Performance table

For each of the sub-funds that form a part of Man Funds VI plc, details of their performance returns during the financial period ended 30 June 2024 are tabulated below.

The individual share classes for which we have reported the performance figures on this page have been selected by the respective investment managers, as their investment manager commentaries throughout this section of the financial statements best reflect the performance of these particular share classes.

To an extent, the investment managers' reports also incorporate their views and analysis on the other share classes belonging to their portfolios, however the performance return for these other share classes during the financial period may differ to what is reported in this subsection of the unaudited financial statements.

For any sub-funds which launched part way throughout the financial period, the information tabulated below represents performance from the date of launch to 30 June 2024:

Man GLG Alpha Select Alternative – Semi Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

The first half of the year delivered further equity market gains. Optimism regarding AI-driven productivity growth and investment, and normalising inflation offset cautious central bank rhetoric, debatable economic data, and political instability. While the FTSE 100 lagged the S&P 500, the underperformance was explained by the US mega cap tech stocks. These strong year-to-date returns have meant that equity market sentiment and positioning have become far more positive although not at extreme levels yet.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG Alpha Select Alternative returned 2.42%¹ over the period.

The Sub-Fund delivered positive performance for the period under review, with investments in a British private equity investment firm, a British analytics company and a short in a spirits company all having significant impact on returns, somewhat offset by noticeable headwinds to performance. The main negative contributors to performance were airlines and utility holdings.

The British private equity investment firm reported excellent full year results surprising positively on asset raising and profits, as well as giving medium-term growth guidance.

The British analytics company remains a large holding. The management team has continued its track record of excellent execution, and we continue to expect the stock to drive faster growth over time as AI products are released across their business units. In addition, peer transactions this year have demonstrated the value of the company's content within the STM division. The stock remains at a discount to global data peers and a significant discount to Thomson Reuters.

The spirits company had initial issues in the LATAM division, driven by destocking, which extended to other regions such as the US where demand has normalised. We have been surprised by the market's appetite to try and look through the downgrades given that the health issues relating to alcohol consumption are becoming more prevalent and there is some evidence that this is impacting consumption patterns.

Turning to detractors, airlines warned about a more challenging fare environment, supplemented by weak airline fare data. The short position in a legacy airline did not offset losses from long holdings. Interestingly, the weakness has come in the budget sector more than premium or business.

Utility holdings have performed somewhat frustratingly, reflecting a more hawkish interest rate outcome at the start of the year. Concerns over power prices and the National Grid capital raise have proven to be short-term headwinds to performance even if we do not expect these issues to be long-term issues for the share prices. Despite the short-term losses, the market has given the Sub-Fund opportunities to increase position sizes.

Gross exposure finished the half at 144%. Weakening economic data and increasing geopolitical uncertainty would normally be a headwind for markets and cyclical sectors, although this remains an abnormal cycle, especially given the impact of AI on productivity and investment levels.

Performance in the first half was somewhat frustrating despite positive returns in both quarters. We believe that some of this is a result of strong portfolio performance in the second half of last year, leading to a period of slower performance at the start of this year. There have been some surprises, which have also caused short-term headwinds to performance, however, in some cases this has allowed us to scale up positions as conviction has grown. As always, we endeavour to learn from positions that are detrimental to the Sub-Fund's performance to improve the team's process and minimise future return headwinds.

Future outlook

The combination of factors that has made us optimistic regarding the outlook for stock picking remains in place. The operating environment for companies remains challenging with elevated inflation, a cost of capital that is no longer zero, supply chain complexities, now at risk of further disruption by tariffs, labour shortages and a rapidly evolving technological landscape. This should result in ongoing differentiated performance between corporates and thus share prices, whilst a more normalised cost of capital means that any missteps will be more costly to fix.

In our opinion, the main issues facing markets for the rest of the year will be how signs of slowing in the global economy and labour markets are offset by structural investment in AI and electrification. This will then need to be put in the context of a changing political landscape that could significantly impact that growth debate. The outlook for the global economy is complex, given the dual speed nature of the fast-growing AI and electrification driven industries, versus the more challenged traditional interest rate sensitive sectors.

Man TargetRisk Global Equities and Man Alternative Style Risk Premia – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

The first quarter of 2024 began with the S&P 500 hitting an all-time high during January, as most major indices rallied. Tensions in the Middle East remained high, leading to the oil price rising in January. Global equities were positive overall in February, S&P and Nasdaq indices ending the month at new all-time highs once again. While January inflation numbers were stronger than anticipated in the US which reduced investors' expectations for US Federal Reserve (the 'Fed') interest rate cuts over 2024 even further. Equities continued their rally from February with modest gains in March. The Fed left its target rate range unchanged for the fifth consecutive meeting, while its updated interest rate projections reiterated three rate cuts in 2024.

The second quarter saw equity markets stumble, breaking the streak of consecutive positive months. A combination of hot US inflation data and a first quarter US GDP print that while weak on first glance, showed resilient private demand, fuelled market fears that central banks will not ease monetary policy as quickly as previously hoped. Yields increased across most of the Treasury curve as higher than expected inflation data lowered the forecasts for the total number of Fed interest rate cuts this year. May saw a reversal as equities rallied while yields declined across the curve. Strong earnings growth and optimistic inflation data were the main drivers. June saw a traditional risk on environment as equities rose and yields fell. The MSCI World equities index recorded its seventh positive month out of the last eight. Commodities continued to experience mixed performance. In Energies, oil was the strongest positive performer while Dutch Natural Gas detracted.

Performance review

Man Alternative Style Risk Premia

Against this backdrop, Man Alternative Style Risk Premia returned 11.56%² over the period. Gains came from both Equity strategies and Macro strategies.

Equity Market Neutral dominated performance within Equity strategies as Low Beta and Equity Size produced smaller and offsetting gains and losses. Equity Market Neutral gains came in 7 of 10 model pillars. Risk-neutralized value was the largest contributor. Informed investor and generic momentum also had meaningful contributions. Whereas factor selection lost the most and alternative and traditional forms of momentum also detracted. Equity Market Neutral models performed well across regions. Models performed the best in Japan. Within the Low Beta portfolio, roughly two-thirds of the gains came from the low beta factor and the remainder from its small net market sensitivity. Equity Size's loss was relatively small when considering the strong outperformance of larger cap indices relative to smaller ones.

About half of the Macro strategies' gain came from Trend while all other strategies contributed positively as well: Seasonality, Volatility, Fixed income and Currencies. Trend gains came almost entirely from stock indices as smaller gains in currencies were offset by similarly sized losses in bonds. The Volatility strategy generated gains as overall stock market volatility, as measured by the VIX index, was in a narrow range for much of the year. Fixed Income gains came solely from the directional yield curve sub-strategy where short positioning in the US and Germany throughout the year drove profits.

Man TargetRisk Global Equities

Against this backdrop, Man TargetRisk Global Equities returned 8.71%³ over the period.

The TargetRisk Equities portfolio produced positive returns in January. The cash portfolio was positive and outperformed the market during January. The macro-overlays had a small short position on throughout January, with a small positive contribution to the portfolio but remained largely inactive. The portfolio produced positive returns in February. The cash portfolio was positive, while the macro-overlay was largely inactive. March was positive with US contributing the most from a region perspective. The macro-overlays did not have a position in March.

The portfolio started the second quarter with a negative return in April. From a generic factor perspective, Barra volatility and beta were both out of favour for the month. Against this backdrop the cash portfolio was negative while the macro-overlay provided some offsetting performance. May saw performance reverse with the cash portfolio positive and driving returns. From a sector perspective, Information Technology contributed the most. The cash portfolio was positive during June once again, while the macro-overlays partially detracted from performance, mostly driven by short S&P 500 futures during the first half of the month. From a sector perspective, the Information Technology and Healthcare sectors contributed the most.

Commentary

Market summary

Q1 2024

Economic news continued in the same vein of positivity throughout Q1 2024 as it left Q4 2023. There was no hard landing, inflation appeared tamed, and central banks around the globe were either contemplating cutting rates or, in the case of the Swiss National Bank, actually doing so. Risk assets benefitted from these effects with many indices, such as the S&P 500 hitting all-time highs, powered by continued strength in the 'Magnificent Seven'. In Japan, the Nikkei also surpassed its 1989 high and the country's central bank ended its negative rate policy and scrapped yield-curve control.

Despite higher-than-expected CPI prints earlier in the quarter, Q2 saw the beginning of the highly anticipated rate cut cycle, with the European Central Bank leading the charge with its first since the pandemic. The US Federal Reserve was a notable omission here, as weaker economic data vindicated the US central bank's decision to pivot back to its higher-for-longer mantra. Despite this divergence across regions, sovereign bonds overall struggled as investors priced in fewer rate cuts over the year. On the positive side, equities continued their advance as the Magnificent 7 drove an albeit narrow rally, taking the S&P to new all-time highs. Geopolitical risk was also back in the fore as tensions in the Middle East once again flared in April. Then towards the back end of the quarter, French assets sold off following a snap legislative election called by President Macron.

Performance review

Man AHL Active Balanced

Against this backdrop, Man AHL Active Balanced returned 5.64%¹ over the period, underperforming against the benchmark, which returned 8.2%².

Q1 2024

Stocks were the top performing asset class. Japanese index positions drove gains, as the Nikkei had its best quarterly performance since Q2 2009, surpassing the 1989 high in the process. US indices added to gains with the S&P 500 posting a double-digit return for a second consecutive quarter as the AI-driven rally continued unabated. Positions in the Hang Seng and South African All Share indices weighed on performance.

Bonds were the sole detractor on the quarter as signs of inflation persistence and reluctance from central banks led the market to reprice the timing and number of rate cuts. US treasuries struggled across tenors, while European positions fared little better with the exception of Italian 10-year bonds, which ended the quarter flat.

Stocks were also accretive led by US positions, as the S&P 500 posted its third consecutive quarterly gain. Gains were compounded by profits from positions in the H-Shares and Hang Seng indices. European positions struggled, with the CAC 40 index a notable underperformer.

Bonds weighed on performance, as investors priced in a more gradual cycle of rate cuts. Longer-dated US treasuries and 10-year Japanese bonds were the top detractors, while European positions also struggled.

Man GLG European Mid-Cap Equity Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

European equities were positive in the first half of 2024, boosted by strong corporate earnings, an uptick in M&A activity, cooling inflation and the promise of interest rate cuts, and optimism around AI and its diffusion to other sectors. European markets had a strong first quarter with the bulk of positive performance attributable to the tech stocks with exposure to AI. The second quarter proved to be more challenging for the region with equities falling amid political uncertainty in France and persistent inflation casting doubts on the scope for further interest rate cuts.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG European Mid-Cap Equity Alternative returned 5.95%¹ over the period.

The top three contributors to returns during this period were from short positions in: a Finnish listed real estate company; a French-listed testing company; and a UK-listed consumer company. The Finnish real estate company underperformed due to balance sheet concerns early in the first half. The French testing company underperformed following the release of a short seller report. The UK consumer company underperformed due to a weak start to the year, showing negative like-for-like revenue decline.

Detractors in the first half were primarily on the long side of the portfolio. These included long positions in a German-listed rental car company, a French-listed consumer products company and a short position in a German-listed auto supplier. The long position in rental car company detracted after they profit warned in early May, following a faster than expected decline in US rental car residual values. The consumer products company detracted later in May due to a profit warning on their US lighters division. The German auto supplier recovered from Q4 2023 underperformance and outperformed on a better-than-expected price for an M&A deal at the beginning of the year. The investment team exited all three positions during the half.

Future outlook

While the market is increasingly pricing in an improved macroeconomic backdrop, the investment team struggles to see the progress on the ground. Although increasing real wages and improved consumer confidence should lead to better demand, from UK retailers to Italian machinery producers, the improving operating momentum has yet to be seen. Having met with 32 companies in June, including many industrial firms, the demand outlook remains cautious. The investment team is finding value in certain areas where sentiment is weak and fundamental expectations are low, but remain cautious about positioning for a larger recovery, especially given the uncertain lagged impact of higher interest rates. The net exposure remained market neutral throughout the first half of the year.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations.

Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

In the first half of 2024, emerging markets were significantly influenced by the global macro environment, with growth and inflation data shaping US and emerging markets monetary policies. Despite a temporary stall, the growth outlook improved during this period. However, inflation surprised on the upside, with 'last mile' inflation proving slow and erratic as services inflation remained persistent. Emerging markets central banks have become increasingly dependent on US rates amid a slowing disinflation process and advanced rate-cutting cycles.

The geopolitical landscape remained uncertain, highlighted by Israel's operations in Rafah and elections in India, Mexico, South Africa, and Turkey. Election results in South Africa (and subsequent unease over delays in forming President Cyril Ramaphosa's coalition cabinet), Mexico (where the ruling party's wider-than-expected victory led markets to price in the premium associated with Andrés Manuel López Obrador's reforms), and India (where Modi's government was forced into a coalition after failing to secure a majority) contributed to volatility. In Turkey, the opposition outperformed expectations in the March municipal elections, with President Erdogan's Justice and Development Party falling to second place for the first time since 2002. Post-election, economic policy became the focus, with no further elections until 2028. Additionally, political noise in Brazil, including fiscal rule discussions, negative fiscal news, tragic flooding, and government intervention in Petrobras and Vale, added to the uncertainty.

Emerging markets bond fund outflows continued in the first half of 2024, totalling -$13 billion, with -$8 billion from low credit bond funds and -$5 billion from high credit bond funds. As at year-to-date 2024, emerging markets sovereign high credit bond issuance stands at $120.1 billion (compared to $89.5 billion in the first half of 2023), with $93.7 billion from investment grade and $26.4 billion from high yield.

Emerging markets bond fund outflows continued in the first half of 2024, totalling -$13 billion, with -$8 billion from low credit bond funds and -$5 billion from high credit bond funds. 2024 YTD, EM sovereign hard currency bond issuance stands at USD120.1bn (USD89.5bn in 2023H1), with USD93.7bn from IG and USD26.4bn from HY.

Emerging markets sovereign and quasi-sovereign hard currency debt gained 1.8% in the first half of 2024. This positive performance was driven by a 3.2% spread return, as the average sovereign spread (adjusted for Venezuela's index inclusion) tightened by 96 basis points in the first half of 2024. This offset -1.3% of treasury losses due to rising core rates. The index's average yield ended the semester at 7.95%, 74 basis points wider than at the end of 2023, but would have been 48 basis points lower without Venezuela's re-inclusion. The high yield sector (5.2%) outperformed investment grade (-0.5%) due to higher interest carry and lesser impact from rising core rates given its shorter duration. Frontier countries led the top performers, with B and CCC-C rating segments returning 4.8% and 23.6% in the second quarter of 2024, respectively. Country returns ranged from 45.7% (Ecuador) to -3.6% (Gabon).

In contrast, sovereign local currency debt lost -3.7% in the first half of 2024, dragged down by -5.2% return from emerging markets FX spot moves as the US dollar strengthened. Higher local yields (-1.1% in price return) also contributed to the losses, while 2.7% from interest carry helped limit the total return loss. The JP Morgan GBI-EM Global Diversified Composite Index yield increased by 40 basis points to 6.6%¹ as markets priced in higher inflation and fewer rate cuts, but still outperforming core yields, with the spread to 5-year US Treasuries tightened by 12 basis points to 222 basis points.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return returned 2.26%² over the period.

The annualised weekly volatility of its returns in the period was 3.3%, 62% of the weekly annualised volatility of the emerging market debt market in the period, in line with its historic profile.

Performance was led by the short in emerging market currencies and the interest carry from cash exposures, which more than compensated for the loss from the short credit spread duration-weighted exposure ('DWE') exposure, as emerging markets sovereign spreads tightened in the period.

The largest individual contributors to returns were the shorts to Brazilian real and Mexican peso (weakened -9% and -2%, respectively), and Chilean peso (was down -9.7% year-to-date, when we closed the position in March as we anticipated a potential recovery due to recent strong economic data and limited central bank room for dovishness).

The largest detractors were short credit spread exposures to Turkey, IHS Markit CDX Emerging Markets Index and South Africa, and the widening in these spreads was not enough to offset the cost of the carry of the short exposures.

We have kept a defensive positioning in the portfolio.

In high credit, as of June 30, 2024, the Sub-Fund's DWE stood at a low 0.3 years. Given the valuation, fundamental, and market positioning factors outlined above, we maintained the credit spread DWE at -4.2 years. The portfolio's main credit spread exposures were to IHS Markit CDX Emerging Markets Index (-1.5 years) due to overvaluation concerns, South Africa (-0.8 years), Colombia (-0.8 years), Turkey (-0.7 years), and Brazil (-0.4 years), all expected to face high volatility in the coming months.

In low credit, as of the end of June the Sub-Fund's emerging markets FX short exposure stood at -19.6%, with the largest positions against the Mexican peso (-6.9%) due to lingering risk associated with the US election and Mexico's significant trade and investment relationship with the US, along with anticipated rate cuts this year; Colombian peso (-4.7%) given deteriorating fiscal and economic conditions and a steady reduction in carry appeal, potentially reversing earlier outperformance amid a worsening backdrop for Latin American currencies; Brazilian real (-4.7%) reflecting deteriorating fiscal performance, a likely dovish shift in the central bank board composition starting in 2025, and hints of reduced government commitment to the inflation target; and Polish zloty (-2.6%) opened the position in February given its expensive valuation, deteriorating terms of trade, and increased political uncertainty amid snap French elections. We closed the -2.6% Chilean peso short in February after it worked in our favour and anticipating a potential recovery due to recent strong economic data and limited central bank room for dovishness. In June, we took profits and closed the 3.4% Chilean peso short we had opened intra-month. We then increased the Mexican peso short by the same amount, as the Mexico peso had begun to appreciate again after the post-election selloff. This made the Mexico peso appear expensive both relative to the Chilean peso and in absolute terms, and the positioning was starting to get crowded again.

Lastly, the Sub-Fund kept a -0.2 years short local rate position in South Africa due to poor macro fundamentals and scepticism regarding the National Unity Government's ability to deliver needed structural reforms.

Future outlook

Macro themes dominate emerging markets, marked by uneven global growth, sticky inflation, and rising political risks. Future US Federal Reserve cuts hinge on lower inflation, but a deep cutting cycle is unlikely. US election concerns are rising, potentially impacting specific emerging markets countries.

Despite increased core rate volatility, the JP Morgan GBI-EM Global Diversified Composite Index spreads are close to pre-2008 Global Financial Crisis levels, offering asymmetric downside risk. Investment grade sovereign valuations have improved in yield terms given the back-up in US Treasury yields year-to-date, but face headwinds from rate volatility and challenges in China, Middle Eastern oil countries, and Eastern Europe affected by euro area political volatility. Meanwhile, most emerging markets distressed spreads have normalized, reducing opportunities. Returns in this segment should be driven by bottom-up factors, but valuation swings may be exacerbated by limited summer liquidity. Thus, we focus on countries with solid fundamentals, external market access, or geopolitical importance and wait for valuations to improve and dispersion to broaden, increasing directional and relative value opportunities in the hard currency credit space.

In local currency markets, emerging markets currencies face pressure from US dollar strength and shrinking rate differentials, leading to bond outflows. Idiosyncratic political factors can also significantly influence FX and rates differentiation. Rising trade frictions, driven by China's manufacturing overcapacity and new US and EU tariffs, add strain. Potential heavy tariffs, defended by former President Trump's campaign, could further pressure emerging markets FX, especially in countries with large US trade surpluses like China, Mexico, Malaysia, and Thailand. However, supportive FX valuations have helped improve emerging markets current account balances from deficit to neutral. Increased valuation dispersion in emerging markets FX and varied country fundamentals should create more relative value opportunities once the dust settles.

In emerging markets local rates, yield premiums are small as significant disinflation progress is behind us. Tight labour markets and robust wage growth have kept services inflation elevated and core inflation above target in Latin America and emerging Europe. With disinflation stalling, emerging markets easing has lost momentum and is increasingly dependent on the US Federal Reserve and US dollar, decreasing emerging markets duration expected gains.

Lastly, positioning analysis indicates the market is more crowded than it appears when considering dedicated emerging markets fund flows alone. This may fuel volatility given the seasonal lower liquidity ahead.

Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Equity markets had a strong first half of the year, supported by better-than-expected economic data that fuelled hopes of a soft landing. The first few months of the year saw the markets question the timing and scale of potential rate cuts across global central as inflation readings remained high and US labour market data came in strong. However, the outlook improved in the second quarter of the year as May and June saw the US post two successive lower-than-expected CPI data reports.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative returned 2.45%¹ over the period.

At the stock level, the Sub-Fund's top contributors were long positions in a US consumer credit rating provider, US technology company, and a Canadian waste management company. The consumer credit ratings provider had a strong run in May and June, benefitting from the US Federal Reserve's more dovish stance. The US technology company, one of the largest positions in the Sub-Fund, had a positive start to the year, performing well after their strong fourth quarter earnings showed improving trends on both sides of the business. After a period of significant investment during Covid, the retail side of the business is now seeing margin expansion as they grow into that capacity. This saw their North American retail business report its strongest operating margin since early 2019. At the same time, their web services arm is seeing acceleration. The Canadian waste management company saw its stock jump 24% in June on reports that there are parties interested in buying their business or even the whole company. A sale of their Environmental Services business seems like the most likely outcome and would enable the company to de-lever their balance sheet and narrow the significant valuation gap with publicly traded peers.

The Sub-Fund's losses were primarily concentrated in net long exposure to airlines. Although there are some very encouraging signs of improved supply trends for the industry at the beginning of the year, industry capacity re-accelerated in the second quarter which led to a softer than expected price environment. However, with Boeing and Airbus having production issues, capacity is likely to be muted later in the year. This is likely to result in a better pricing environment for the airline industry absent a recession in the US.

Long exposure to airlines has been reduced given the near-term yield pressures. However, the Sub-Fund added a long position in an American-Irish aviation leasing company, which benefits from the supply problems at the aircraft manufacturers. Given the tighter supply of new aircraft, airlines are holding on to existing planes for longer and paying higher lease rates to do that. At the same time, the company is taking advantage of the strong market for used aircraft to sell some of their planes at very attractive gain on sale margins.

Future outlook

As we move into the second half of the year, the US election is coming into focus, we continue to monitor the potential implications for the portfolio. The election result is likely to throw up winners and losers which we will look to exploit in the Sub-Fund. For example, under a Trump presidency, further tariffs against Chinese goods will be problematic for certain manufacturers and retailers. At the same time, a Trump victory may also likely see a lighter touch on regulation which would be positive for small business confidence.

Market summary

Investor sentiment improved at the start of 2024 due to increased chances of a soft landing, leading to moderate growth in equities and fixed income. Inflation and geopolitical factors dominated the narrative. Early in the year, uncertainty about rate cuts grew as inflation remained high. A robust US economy and high energy prices caused US treasuries to suffer their worst month in April, mirrored by European government bonds due to diminished European Central Bank (ECB) rate cut expectations.

High interest rates impacted non-financial companies, notably European firms like Ardagh, Altice, and Intrum, causing significant losses in March. The second quarter saw improvement as US CPI data was lower than expected, and the UK hit the Bank of England's 2% target, its lowest inflation print in almost three years. The ECB cut rates by 25 basis points to 3.75%, marking a significant shift.

Geopolitical events continued to influence markets. Middle East conflict escalations widened corporate bond spreads in April as investors sought "safe havens". In June, political uncertainty in France, due to a snap election called by Emmanuel Macron, unsettled European markets. Equities dipped, and the OAT/Bund spread reached its highest level in over seven years, culminating in a significant sell-off on June 14th before stabilizing.

Future outlook

With a yield of over 10% in USD terms in our flagship High Yield Opportunities Strategy, we believe that there are significant opportunities for active investors across the market at present. As concerns remain elevated around equity valuations, it can be pertinent to flag that high yield has historically experienced lower drawdowns during bear markets as well as quicker recoveries. An attractive entry point in terms of yield can provide a cushion against volatility and that these times of higher volatility can often provide active managers with opportunities to generate significant alpha for clients. We have selectively been adding risk where we believe appropriate but have not significantly altered portfolio positioning in recent days.

Man GLG Event Driven Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Markets were resilient in Q1 despite initial concerns. Strong US economic data and excitement around artificial intelligence supported market strength. Equity markets shrugged off rate cut expectations, but fixed income returns were muted. Risk assets rose in Q2 as inflation data and improved geopolitical situation boosted optimism.

Global M&A volume exceeded $1.5 trillion, reflecting a significant year-over-year increase of approximately 20%. This growth can be attributed to robust expansion of new activity predominantly across North America. The first half of the year saw technology, industrial and healthcare sectors drive much of the M&A volume.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG Event Driven Alternative returned -0.55%¹ over the period, in what has been a difficult period for event driven funds, especially those with a focus on merger arbitrage with the HFRX ED Merger Arbitrage Index, declining -3.3%² over the same period.

Future outlook

Looking to the second half of 2024, we are significantly more positive about the current merger arbitrage opportunity set. The higher and more uncertain rate environment of the past few years led to a significant slowdown in M&A. However, with greater certainty ahead, there has been a material increase in activity. This year alone has seen over $1.5 trillion in M&A activity. With large capital pools and greater clarity, we believe we are entering a strong environment for our investment approach.

The S&P 500 holds approximately $1.8 trillion in cash, providing a substantial capital pool for strategic acquisitions. Companies are increasingly investing in AI, cybersecurity, and cloud capabilities in response to digitalization and technological disruption. While US regulators have been moderately successful in litigating mergers on traditional grounds, though novel theories have struggled to persuade the judiciary.

High interest rates and the resulting expensive credit facilities remain a major impediment to private equity (PE) activity. However, PE firms have around $2.5 trillion in dry powder (cash reserves or liquid assets available for use) ready to deploy and are actively seeking new deals.

Man GLG Asia Pacific (ex-Japan) Equity Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

MSCI AC Asia ex Japan returned 9.75%¹ in USD terms over the first half of 2024 in a period characterised by shifting macro conditions and vast dispersion in the region's factor landscape. After a modest gain in the first quarter, the index recorded its best quarter of performance in over eighteen months during the second quarter, driven partly by a recovery in China equities. MSCI China recovered close to 20%¹ from its January lows, helping support the broader market and bringing performance back to near par with developed market peers, after trailing in the first few months of year.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG Asia Pacific (ex Japan) Equity Alternative returned 5.2%² over the period, recording consecutive positive returns for each month of the period. After a challenging calendar year of performance during 2023, it has been pleasing to see an improvement in performance as fundamentals have reasserted themselves as the primary driver of share prices as macro concerns, particularly around China, have started to stabilise.

The top individual stock contributors were a Taiwanese semiconductor manufacturing company, an Indian automobile manufacturing company and a South Korean chip manufacturer, as the long book was the main driver behind performance. The Taiwanese semiconductor manufacturing company and South Korean chip manufacturer both benefitted from large share price gains over the period, in line with the significant investment to develop the generative AI industry which has led to a sharp upturn in the global semiconductor cycle.

The Indian automobile manufacturing company also performed well as a first quarter earnings beat was supported by news of market share gains. Despite benefitting from a sequential upgrade cycle over the past two and a half years, we believe the stock remains well positioned for a continuation of this earnings trend, particularly given the company's market leadership position in domestic tractor manufacturing and strong guidance around its passenger vehicle segment growth.

Key detractors included a short in a shipping company, a Taipei computer appliance manufacturer and a short in an automobile manufacturer. The shipping company was a material drag in the second quarter, as the spike in container rates resulting from the Red Sea conflict helped support the company's share price. We reduced the short over the period but remain concerned about the challenges of overcapacity within the industry, which we expect will add downward pressure on rates.

In contrast, a long position in the South Korean chip manufacturer fell as concerns around market share losses persisted through interim results. This was despite positive guidance from company management relating to demand for AI PCs and the new iPad model which we expect to support earnings going into next year.

Future outlook

Following the conclusion of the third plenary session, our focus now turns to policymakers' ability to execute on the strategic initiatives announced on July 18th. While it is difficult to draw meaningful conclusions from the initial report, policy relating to land reform and improvements to social welfare are encouraging steps with respect to reducing household savings and boosting consumption. The introduction of new land reform measures, which aim to relax restrictions on the commercial use of residential property in rural areas, now offers China's mass rural population an opportunity to monetise rural land, something previously restricted by law. Similarly, the announced reforms to the hukou system also represents an important shift in economic policy. Traditionally, the hukou system has restricted internal migration by allocating social benefits such as education and healthcare according to your place of birth, meaning households who have migrated to Tier 1 cities for work have to pay social security in those cities. Granting rural migrants access to public services based on their current residence should reduce the need for saving. If executed correctly, we anticipate both these initiatives to deliver upside to consumption, providing longer-term support to the economy and in turn China's equity market. We expect further details on how these policies will look in practice at the politburo meeting scheduled for the end of this month.

Man AHL Target Growth Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Q1 2024

Economic news continued in the same vein of positivity throughout Q1 2024 as it left Q4 2023. There was no hard landing, inflation appeared tamed, and central banks around the globe were either contemplating cutting rates or, in the case of the Swiss National Bank, actually doing so. Risk assets benefitted from these effects with many indices, such as the S&P 500 hitting all-time highs, powered by continued strength in the 'Magnificent Seven'. In Japan, the Nikkei also surpassed its 1989 high and the country's central bank ended its negative rate policy and scrapped yield-curve control.

Despite higher-than-expected CPI prints earlier in the quarter, Q2 saw the beginning of the highly anticipated rate cut cycle, with the European Central Bank leading the charge with its first since the pandemic. The US Federal Reserve (the 'Fed') was a notable omission here, as weaker economic data vindicated the US central bank's decision to pivot back to its higher-for-longer mantra. Despite this divergence across regions, sovereign bonds overall struggled as investors priced in fewer rate cuts over the year. On the positive side, equities continued their advance as the Magnificent 7 drove an albeit narrow rally, taking the S&P to new all-time highs. Geopolitical risks resurfaced in April with Middle East tensions, and French assets sold off after President Macron called a snap legislative election.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man AHL Target Growth Alternative returned 4.76%¹ over the period, underperforming against the benchmark, which returned 6.2%².

TargetGrowth finished H1 in the black. By asset class, stocks were by far the best performer as equity indices across the globe repeatedly hit all-time highs. FX trading, which is found only in the trend-following component, marginally finished in the black. Bonds did curtail gains, as the asset class which so many believed would rally coming into 2024 was repeatedly hurt by a hawkish rate cut narrative.

Year-to-date, Target Growth has seen a big divergence in asset class performance. Beginning 2024, markets expected the realisation of a long overdue rally in bonds as the inflationary risk narrative faded away. Conversely, there were murmurs of concentration risk in US indices and doubts over whether the AI frenzy could continue to propel markets to new heights. One may have reasonably expected it would be bonds rather than stocks that would steal the show in H1. However, it was stocks that continued their charge to break new heights, with the asset class more than offsetting another disappointing half for fixed income. In fact, it was the risk that people feared in equities – too much index concentration amongst indices – that propelled markets higher, with Nvidia, Apple and Microsoft all vying for the allusive title of #1 most valuable company in the world.

Amid the stellar equity performance, particularly in Q1, gains from stock exposure in both the multi-asset long-only and trend-following components were intuitive. Movements in equity exposures were almost homogenous between the two strategies, as both cranked up exposure throughout Q1 before quickly cutting towards the back end of April as hawkish Fed comments damaged the risk-asset rally. A similar pattern emerged towards the end of May, when both strategies had subsequently rebuilt a large portion of long equity exposure. This time, it was political uncertainty that sparked nervousness in risk-assets, leading to another drop in equity exposures. Despite the yo-yo nature of stock markets in Q2, equities ended by far the best performer of the year.

A different story emerged in fixed income, with many taken aback by the progressive reduction of rate cuts priced in over the year. In Q1, the long-only multi-asset bond allocation experienced what bond investors have become all too familiar with over past years – slowly rising yields. This set the tone for the beginning of Q2, where long fixed income positions saw further pain amid a hotter-than-expected US CPI print, with subsequent rallies later in the quarter unable to offset earlier losses. Despite also seeing bonds detract, the trend following component navigated this tricky environment relatively better. Despite entering the year long bonds, the strategy quickly began cutting its exposure and entered March net short, subsequently benefitting from rising yields across the globe. As the net short increased, bonds continued to profit and had clawed back most of the earlier underperformance. However, H1 ended with weaker US economic data in June that pointed to a slowing global economy, sending yields back down and hurting the trend-following's short fixed income positions. In reaction, net short exposures were reduced, ending the half-year mark almost flat.

FX trading was slightly accretive as the trend-following component's net long dollar position benefitted from the hot US CPI print in April. With investors faced with a more hawkish Fed, the greenback strengthened against a plethora of currencies. However, the latter stages of Q2 were characterized by two notable FX reversals, with trend followers unexpectedly giving back profits. First came the Mexican peso, whose appreciation versus the US dollar came to an abrupt halt following the election of a leader perceived to hold non-market-friendly policies. Soon after, the Japanese yen, which had hit its lowest level for 40 years against the greenback, bounced back. Despite generating losses for the asset class, FX trading remained positive for the year.

Future outlook

Recent economic data has pointed to slowing inflation and a cooling economy, potentially paving the way for an end to the most restrictive monetary policies seen in decades. Many central banks have even begun their cutting cycles, although the most important remains on the side for now. It would not be surprising for investors to believe that the war against inflation is over and that we are on the precipice of a bond and equity bull run.

We aim not to rain on the parade, but rather to once again highlight the necessity of holding a well-diversified and balanced multi-asset portfolio that can bring potential returns in both the good and bad times. Inflation may well be defeated, but global markets may face many more challenges in H2 2024, including one of the most divisive American elections ever seen.

We remain grounded in our belief that with a balanced, diversified asset allocation centred around risk management, we are in a far better position to navigate the inevitable market uncertainties we all face. Our approach, entrenched in Target Growth, ensures we maintain a well-rounded portfolio nimble enough to react systematically to changing market environments.

Man GLG RI Global Sustainable Growth Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Despite global markets contending with geopolitical uncertainty, the MSCI World ended the first half of the year up 11.7%¹, led by higher US stock and government bond markets. Global equity indices were also lifted by the strong performance of the technology sector, led by semiconductor names on the back of another spectacular set of numbers from Nvidia. Sentiment drew support from a lower US inflation number of 3.3% in May, increasing the likelihood of a US rate cut in the near future. This contrasted with Europe where heightened political risk in France contributed to a weak June for the European share index. President Macron's surprise decision to call snap French parliamentary elections led to market fears that the next French government would be formed by the far-right Rassemblement National (RN).

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG RI Global Sustainable Growth Alternative returned 6.83%² over the period.

Over the last 6 months, the Sub-Fund has enjoyed positive absolute and relative performance, with the Sub-Fund's net unit price appreciating. This performance was driven by stock selection and exposure to the Information Technology and Healthcare sectors compared to the MSCI World Index. The Sub-Fund's biggest contributors to performance were a British semiconductor manufacturer, a Danish pharmaceutical company and a Dutch semiconductor manufacturer.

The British semiconductor manufacturer's share price reacted to a strong set of full year results to end-March 2024. The company's FY24 revenues exceeded $3 billion for the first time, an increase of 21% and ahead of guidance, while it grew its FY24 non-GAAP operating profit by 80% and achieved an operating margin of 43.6%. Guidance for the current FY25 was in line with expectations but we were positively surprised by the confidence with which they now expect both FY26 and FY27 to be 20%+ growth years. The Danish pharmaceutical company, the Sub-Fund's largest position, contributed strongly during the period following its Capitals Markets Day ('CMD') which established confidence in its broad drug pipeline beyond semaglutide. In addition to expanding its drug pipeline, the company is investing heavily into its production capacity. This not only lets it capitalise on the growth opportunity ahead, but also increases the barriers to entry for new entrants even when semaglutide loses exclusivity. Post the CMD we are increasingly confident in their ability to, together with an American pharmaceutical company, remain the market leader in the huge obesity market in the years to come. The Dutch semiconductor manufacturer's record order intake in its fourth quarter drove its share price higher. An order backlog of 39€ billion also offers strong visibility for this year and much of next, as its customers prepare for an upswing in the cycle underpinned by technology transitions demanded by the growing requirement of AI, for example. High-bandwidth memory is becoming a bottleneck for AI, resulting in a jump in demand for EUV tools from their memory customers.

An American software company, and a French personal care company were the biggest detractors from performance, with some underperformance also coming from the lack of exposure in Banks. The American software company's share price suffered during Q1 following the release of the Q1 results. Despite results with 12% revenue growth in constant currencies, an operating margin of 47.6% and net new ARR (annual recurring revenue) which beat company guidance, the market was disappointed with soft Q2 guidance, implying a meaningful acceleration in H2 to meet full year guidance. In addition, ongoing worries around competition from other generative AI products is weighing on the share price. We believe H1 is suffering from tough pricing comparisons which will roll-off in H2 whilst the pipeline of incremental generative AI products with monetisation opportunities is rich for H2. We believe that the company has a compelling edge thanks to the commercial safety of its large language models, the breadth and depth of its product suite especially for professional users and the opportunity to unlock new value propositions with generative AI. The French personal care company's share price reacted negatively to the participation of their CEO in a "fireside chat" webcast where they used the opportunity to revise down their growth expectations for the global beauty market in 2024, from slightly above 5% to 4.5-5%. The main reason for their caution was a "gloomy" China where a flat beauty market in the first quarter turned negative in the second quarter. They also referred to the US beauty market where "luxe" (premium beauty) demand remains robust, particularly relating to fragrances, but mass market makeup has retrenched following the post-Covid boom of previous years. But we were reassured by their upbeat comments about both Europe and Emerging Markets, and how the company continues to gain share in the global beauty market, while successfully defending its gross margin and operating profitability.

Future outlook

The outlook for global equities remains positive, supported by improving economies globally, an upturn in the global earnings cycle, and pending easier policy. Even though headline multiples are broadly not as cheap as they were in the past, companies seem to be executing well while utilising the “operational efficiency” theme that has become more evident in the post-Covid area. The Sub-Fund’s strategy will continue to single out those rare sustainable companies which we judge to have the competitive and financial strengths to deliver an on average double-digit compound annual growth rate in their earnings per share over the next five years, thanks to their own company-specific abilities that do not rely upon a rising tide. Critically, above and beyond this, each holding must demonstrate that it has the staying power to prolong its earnings expansion well into the next decade.

Man AHL TargetClimate – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Q1 2024

Economic news continued in the same vein of positivity throughout Q1 2024 as it left Q4 2023. There was no hard landing, inflation appeared tamed, and central banks around the globe were either contemplating cutting rates or, in the case of the Swiss National Bank, actually doing so. Risk assets benefitted from these effects with many indices, such as the S&P 500 hitting all-time highs, powered by continued strength in the 'Magnificent Seven'. Sovereign bonds struggled as signs of inflation persistence and reluctance from central banks led the market to reprice the timing and number of rate cuts.

Despite higher-than-expected CPI prints earlier in the quarter, Q2 saw the beginning of the highly anticipated rate cut cycle, with the European Central Bank leading the charge with its first since the pandemic. The US Federal Reserve (the 'Fed') was a notable omission here, as weaker economic data vindicated the US central bank's decision to pivot back to its higher-for-longer mantra. Despite this divergence across regions, sovereign bonds overall struggled as investors priced in fewer rate cuts over the year. On the positive side, equities continued their advance as the Magnificent 7 drove an albeit narrow rally, taking the S&P to new all-time highs. Geopolitical risk was also back in the fore as tensions in the Middle East once again flared in April. Then towards the back end of the quarter, French assets sold off following a snap legislative election called by President Macron.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man AHL TargetClimate returned 3.61%¹ over the period.

Q1 2024

Equities were positive over the quarter with positions in North American and pan-Asian semiconductor and software names benefiting as the AI-driven rally continued unabated. Positions in North American materials and pharma names weighed on performance.

Credit was flat on the quarter as gains from long European positions, notably in real estate and telecom names, were matched by losses from positions in European software names.

Bonds detracted with losses predominately from German and French sovereigns.

Commodities struggled as carbon emissions continued their downward price trend, while the exclusion of crude oil and gold was detrimental to the portfolio, as prices rallied.

The Sub-Fund selects sustainable investments based on the Man Group sustainable investments framework. At quarter end, 89% of the portfolio's capital was invested in environmentally aligned securities. Scope 1 & 2 weighted average carbon emissions intensity across the corporate issuers was 35.7 tCO₂e/m$.

Sub-Fund performance was positive over the quarter as gains from commodities, credit and stocks offset losses from bonds.

Commodities contributed the most as prices in silver and copper continued their upward trend, while carbon emissions rebounded. The exclusion of oil benefited the portfolio as prices softened over the quarter.

Credit was also accretive, with profits from a European telecom and North American financial services name outweighing losses from a European capital goods name.

Equities further added with positions in North American and pan-Asian semiconductor and software names continuing to benefit from the AI-driven rally. Positions in North American healthcare and consumer staple names detracted.

Bonds generated offsetting losses, driven by French 10-year bonds while German and UK bonds also detracted.

Exposure fluctuated throughout the quarter, finishing the quarter in line with where it started. The correlation overlay partially activated and de-activated over the quarter. The momentum overlay was active in bonds, although reduced its de-gear signal as the quarter drew to a close. The volatility overlay was active in commodities, however, subsequently disengaged by quarter end.

The Sub-Fund selects sustainable investments based on the Man Group sustainable investments framework. At quarter end, 87% of the portfolio's capital was invested in environmentally aligned securities. Scope 1 & 2 weighted average carbon emissions intensity across the corporate issuers was 31.4 tCO₂e/m$.

Man GLG Emerging Markets Corporate Credit Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Emerging Markets ('EM') Corporate Bond Index (CEMBI BD) had a mixed start to the year, returning 2.4%¹ in the first three months with high yield and in particular lower rated portions of the market leading the way. A persistently strong US economy meant broad dollar strength and higher real yields, but strong risk sentiment drove credit spread compression. Indeed, the 33 basis points rise in US Treasury yields during the quarter was more than offset by the 51 basis points tightening of credit spreads. Additionally, negative net supply remained supportive for the asset class.

Dispersion was a key theme over Q1, between sectors, credit ratings and within regions. Within CEMBI BD regional segments, Asia high yield delivered the strongest return at 5%, whereas Middle East lagged overall at 1% return.

In Q2, emerging market corporate bonds continued its strong run this year with the JP Morgan CEMBI Index delivering a return of 1.5%¹ in Q2 boosting YTD returns to 3.9%. The high yield component of the market continued its outperformance, delivering 2.1% in Q2 and 6.4% YTD. Resilient credit markets have kept spreads anchored with the most recent inflation moderation and supportive growth outlook.

Credit metrics remain robust across EM corporates, despite some slight retracing. Regionally, EBITDA improvements have been more pronounced in Asia and Europe from Q1, while Middle East and Africa has registered a 7% decline. In terms of sectors, Consumer, Diversified Industrials, and Infrastructure have seen strong rebounds, while Metals & Mining and Oil & Gas have experienced the biggest drop. Net leverage has ticked up marginally over the quarter but is still well below that of developed market ('DM') counterparts. Additionally, interest coverage ratio is in line with that of DM investment grade market and only slightly below DM high yield.

Technicals remain supportive with light positioning and net negative supply, in defiance of moderate fund outflows. EM Corporate positioning from dedicated and cross-over accounts is close to the lowest level over the last 5 years. In terms of supply, YTD net figure stands at -$27 billion, with Asia led by China as the only region with negative net financing of -$53 billion. We expect this trend to continue for the year that more net supply will come from CEEMEA and LATAM. Moreover, high yield issuance comprises 28% of the total issuance and remains well below the 30-45% level seen in most years. We believe this factor will support high yield spreads with a moderate additional pipeline expected for Q3 ahead of the US presidential election.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG Emerging Markets Corporate Credit Alternative returned 8.24%² over the period, continuing the strong performance from the end of 2023. Long positions were the primary driver of returns, while short positions have detracted -0.18%. This is a positive result, considering the stable market and strong backdrop, allowing us to maintain a long bias and take on selective and controlled short positions.

Regionally, positions in Latin America and Asia were the main drivers of returns. Sector-wise, positions in real estate, basic materials, and industrials were the primary contributors, with very few detractors on a sector basis.

The driving force behind returns is idiosyncratic risk driven by high conviction positioning backed by in-depth fundamental research. The key drivers of returns YTD include:

Key contributors

- Peruvian Metals and Mining: Our event-driven position in a Peruvian zinc miner performed well as the company successfully engaged with bank lenders and bondholders to extend its maturities. The position also benefited from higher commodity prices and the new owner's willingness to offer a fair deal to creditors and push ahead with asset sales to strengthen the balance sheet.
- Chinese Real Estate: The issuer, supported by its sizable unencumbered mature shopping malls as liquidity sources, was one of our top picks to survive the China property downturn. Bond performance was strong amidst a new wave of relaxation policies and refinancing progress onshore, which aligned with our expectations.
- Brazilian Airline: Our event-driven position in the company's 2026 secured bonds continued to perform well. Organised secured bondholders seem to be succeeding in protecting their position in the potential new capital structure as the group restructures again. Competitor interest in buying the company also helped keep the bonds in demand.
- Indonesian Property Company Holdco: We have been long-term bulls on these bonds. Apart from comfort with the underlying land bank coverage, we had extra comfort from the group's controlling stake in Indonesia's leading hospital chain. Our analysis showed the market value of that business being more than enough to cover debt liabilities. During Q2, the group tendered for our bonds using local bank borrowing and partly monetizing its hospital business stake.
- Inaugural Issuance from Independent Oil & Gas: Our detailed work on an independent oil & gas producer in Latam and Africa, made us comfortable with the fundamental story and its liquidity position. Given its first-time issuer nature, the bonds were priced attractively. Our carry position in this primary issuance performed well post-issuance.

Key detractors

- Equity Index Hedges: The equity index put option is part of the hedging strategy to mitigate the tail risk of our long-biased portfolio. The option expired out of the money in a stable market.
- Long Positions in Sri Lankan Government Bonds: These bonds dropped amid a stalemate in negotiation progress with Eurobond holders' Steering Committee on key financial terms in April. We reduced the position due to concerns about timelines and post-restructuring debt sustainability.
- New Issuance in a Brazilian Car Rental Agency: Our new issuance position struggled with weak technicals after launch, not helped by tight pricing. We exited the position, expecting muted incremental demand from local investors.
- Short Positions in South Africa via CDS: Our CDS position in South Africa tightened last quarter due to moderated inflation expectations and political stabilization with a new multi-party coalition government.
- Long Positions in the Republic of Ecuador: Our long position in Ecuador gave back some gains after a recent run in Q1 2024. We continue to hold the position, expecting the country to close its financial gap with a newly approved IMF program and the Noboa administration to prevent further escalation of the security crisis.

Future outlook

While we have strong fundamentals and technicals, valuations have significantly compressed YTD. With uncertainty over the macro cycle and US elections, we adhere to a barbell approach to focusing on high quality short duration carry and more idiosyncratic opportunities with more significant risk-adjusted return potential.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations.

Man GLG European Leaders Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

European equities were positive in the first half of 2024, boosted by strong corporate earnings, an uptick in M&A activity, cooling inflation and the promise of interest rate cuts, and optimism around AI and its diffusion to other sectors. European markets had a strong first quarter with the bulk of positive performance attributable to the tech stocks with exposure to AI. The second quarter provided to be more challenging for the region with equities falling amid political uncertainty in France and persistent inflation casting doubts on the scope for further interest rate cuts.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG European Leaders Alternative returned 0.94%¹ over the period.

The long book contributed positively to returns in the first half of the year, while the short book detracted, in a rising market. Among the long investment strategies within the Sub-Fund, 'compounding leaders' and 'emerging leaders' contributed positively to performance, while 'value leadership' detracted. For our short strategies: accounting shorts detracted from performance but generated alpha, and our fundamental shorts made an absolute positive contribution to returns.

Future outlook

Based on the factors which we have considered above, we do not have cause for concern which would otherwise prevent the Sub-Fund from operating as a viable economic entity during the ordinary course of business over the next 12 months, following the year-end reporting date.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations.

Man GLG Financial Credit Opportunities – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

The start of 2024 saw investor sentiment on the global economic landscape improve as chances of a soft landing increased, leading to moderate growth across both equities and fixed income, the former very much led by gains within tech amidst the continued AI enthusiasm. As has been case for some time, market dynamics were largely dominated by the narrative surrounding global inflation as well as ongoing geopolitical factors.

The first few months of the year saw the timing and scale of potential rate cuts across global central banks become increasingly uncertain as inflation metrics pointed towards sustained price pressures. A robust US economy combined with persistently high prices in the energy sector prompted a significant repricing in the bond market, causing US treasuries to suffer their worst month of the year in April. This was mirrored across Europe where expectations for European Central Bank (ECB) rate cuts also diminished, causing government bonds across the continent to post losses.

The impact of higher interest rates fed through to a few high profile non-financial companies. This was particularly felt in the large capital structures of European firms such as Ardagh, Altice and Intrum which all reported balance sheet issues stemming from the rate cycle, causing the lower echelons of European high yield to suffer significant losses in March.

However, the picture brightened up in the second quarter of the year as May and June saw the US post two successive lower-than-expected CPI data reports, while the UK hit the Bank of England's target of 2%, its lowest rate in almost three years. No change in UK monetary policy is expected until after July's general election. However, the most significant sign of a change in direction yet came from central Europe with the ECB becoming the first major central bank to cut rates, lowering by 25 basis points to 3.75%.

Geopolitical affairs also played a key role in shaping market movements as escalations in the ongoing Middle East conflict caused corporate bond spreads to widen in April as investors flew to 'safe havens.' Meanwhile, June saw European markets rocked by political uncertainty in France as equities dipped while the OAT/Bund spread reached its highest level in over 7 years on the back of a surprise snap election called by Emmanuel Macron. This culminated in a significant sell-off on Friday 14th June, before steadying over the remainder of month.

Overall, total returns were positive for the year so far across US and European investment grade assets, whilst the UK underperformed in local currency terms. From a high yield perspective, European assets marginally outperformed the US on a total return basis.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man GLG Financial Credit Opportunities returned 8.54%¹ over the period, outperforming the benchmark, which returned 5.4%². Outperformance has been predominantly driven by sector allocation and security selection decisions.

Performance has been largely driven by banks, non-bank lenders, asset managers, brokerages, exchanges, commodity traders and to a slightly lesser extent, insurance companies. The sheer breadth of variety within the sector has created a wide array of security selection opportunities that we can exploit within our portfolios. The team have been particularly focused on banks with secured balance sheets, funded primarily by a largely retail deposit base. This lends itself in particular to issuers in the UK & Ireland as well as in Iberia, where floating rate mortgages are commonplace and banks there are consequently benefitting from the higher interest rate environment.

Key contributors

The Sub-Fund benefited from a diverse set of positions within banking and financial services which allowed it to outperform over the year so far:

- France: 0.64%
- United Kingdom: 0.54%
- Germany: 0.44%

Key detractors

- United Kingdom: -0.17%
- United Kingdom: -0.12%
- United Kingdom: -0.12%

Future outlook

In addition to UK and central European banks and insurers, pockets of value are appearing higher up the capital structure in parts of Eastern Europe, where the large national champions, many of whom have not accessed the market before have to raise debt for regulatory purposes. Eastern Europe is not always given consideration by investors because it falls between emerging markets (EM) and Europe.

It is likely to continue to be a good hunting ground, throwing up some attractive opportunities for credit investors who are being paid for both the geopolitical risk and for the fact that many of these banks are new issuers. In addition, parts of Eastern Europe are already in the downcycle in terms of rate cutting, thereby circumnavigating questions about what higher rates for longer does to the economy. Although these banks will have lower net interest margin (NIM) owing to lower rates, they are also likely to have fewer asset quality issues.

With yields sitting at elevated levels to the broader market, we believe the current landscape offers an attractive opportunity set for high conviction, bottom-up, active and expertised managers such as us who are able to identify mispriced issuers with strong solvency, profitability and liquidity.

Man Global Technology Equity Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Man Global Technology Equity Alternative (the 'Sub-Fund') launched on April 4, 2024. It is a concentrated global strategy based on bottom-up fundamental investing informed by thematic thinking across the tech sector. As each tech innovation creates new profit pools and disrupts existing ones, the Sub-Fund seeks to invest in companies with the strongest industrial logic in growing profit pools and short the most fragile assets in shrinking profit pools.

Market summary

Technology stocks had a strong first half of 2024 with gains attributable to optimism about the long-term profitability of AI and the record high performance of semiconductor manufacturers like Nvidia.

Performance review

Against this backdrop, Man Global Technology Equity Alternative returned 0.54%¹ over the period.

During this period, gains were primarily concentrated in the long side of the portfolio, while the short book detracted. Of the key top-down themes delivered through the portfolio, AI diffusion and AI monetisation contributed the most to positive returns.

At the stock level, the top contributors were a US cybersecurity company, a South Korean chip manufacturer and a British cybersecurity company. The US cybersecurity company has had a strong run, driven higher by acquisition strategy to provide AI-backed cyber security. The South Korean chip manufacturer benefitted from positive commentary from their competitor on AI demand and commodity memory tightness in June. Lastly, the British cybersecurity company also contributed positively after it agreed to a private equity takeover offer.

Detractors during this period included a short position in a services automation company that saw its share price jump following a buyout offer for a private equity company. Elsewhere, a long position in a US cloud computing services provider also underperformed after releasing guidance that failed to meet expectations.

The Sub-Fund continues to systematically scale up its gross exposures since its launch in April. Idiosyncratic risk exposures dominate the Sub-Fund's overall risk profile, finishing the month at circa 60%.

Future outlook

AI monetisation and diffusion themes continue to represent the largest share of the Sub-Fund's gross exposures. As concerns of a potential AI bubble continue to grow, the Sub-Fund has added exposure to a new theme "AI Capex overbuild" to balance the long bias in semiconductors and reduce the risk of overexposure to the datacentre supply chain.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations.

GLOSSARY

Active management	Active management is the use of a human element, such as a single manager, co-managers or a team of managers, to actively manage a fund's portfolio. Active managers rely on analytical research, forecasts, and their own judgment and experience in making investment decisions on what securities to buy, hold and sell. The opposite of active management is passive management, better known as "indexing".
Ancillary assets	Assets which are not the main assets of a company.
Appreciation	An increase in the market value of an asset, such as a stock, bond, commodity or piece of real estate, or in the value of one currency with respect to another. The opposite of depreciation.
Asset	Any item of economic value owned by an individual or corporation, especially that which could be converted to cash. Examples are cash, securities, accounts receivable, inventory, office equipment, real estate, a car, and other property. On a balance sheet, assets are equal to the sum of liabilities, common stock, preferred stock, and retained earnings.
Asset class	An asset class is a group of securities that exhibits similar characteristics, behaves similarly in the marketplace and is subject to the same laws and regulations. The three main asset classes are equities, or stocks; fixed income, or bonds; and cash equivalents, or money market instruments. Some investment professionals add real estate, commodities, and increasingly, cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoin, to the asset class mix.
Balance of payments	Statement of a country's net financial transactions with other countries over a defined period of time.
Balance sheet	Financial statement that provides a snapshot of what a company owns and owes, as well as the amount invested by shareholders.
Bankers' acceptance	A bankers' acceptance (BA) is a short-term credit investment created by a non-financial firm and guaranteed by a bank to make payment. Acceptances are traded at discounts from face value in the secondary market.
Benchmark	A standard against which the performance of a fund can be measured and compared (eg. a stock market index such as the FTSE 100 or an interest rate, such as LIBOR).
Blue Chip company	The stock of a major company with a record of strong earnings, reliable dividend payments and steady share price performance. Blue chips are normally the largest capitalised stocks in a particular market and among the most widely traded.
Bond	A debt instrument issued for a period of more than one year with the purpose of raising capital by borrowing. Generally, a bond is a promise to repay the principal along with interest (coupons) on a specified date (maturity). Some bonds do not pay interest, but all bonds require a repayment of principal. When an investor buys a bond, he/she becomes a creditor of the issuer.
Buyback	A buyback, also known as a share repurchase, is when a company buys its own outstanding shares to reduce the number of shares available on the open market. Companies buy back shares for a number of reasons, such as to increase the value of remaining shares available by reducing the supply or to prevent other shareholders from taking a controlling stake.
Cash equivalents	Cash equivalents are investments securities that are for short-term investing, and they have high credit quality and are highly liquid. These securities have a low-risk, low-return profile and include Treasury bills, certificates of deposit, bankers' acceptances, commercial papers and other money market instruments.
Certificates of deposit (CDs)	Interest-bearing certificate issued by a bank to a depositor. Interest is paid at maturity.
Collective investment scheme	A type of investment scheme that involves collecting money from different investors and then combining all the money collected to fund the investment.
Compound interest	Earning interest on interest, or, more precisely, the interest earned on the sum of the principal amount and the interest already accumulated. A return on an investment is compounded if it takes into account compound interest, i.e. the interest is reinvested.

Commercial paper	A type of borrowing by companies and institutions in the form of loans where lenders do not have the right to take the assets of the borrower if they fail to repay. These loans are given for a period of a year or less.
Commodity	A good produced in bulk. Many commodities, such as coffee, meat and grain, and raw materials such as metals and oil, are traded on local, regional and/or international markets called commodity exchanges, either on a spot basis or through futures contracts, which allow the purchase or sale of a commodity at a predetermined price on a particular date in the future.
Common stock	See Ordinary shares
Consumer staples	Consumer staples are essential products, such as food, beverages, tobacco and household items. Consumer staples are goods that people are unable or unwilling to cut out of their budgets regardless of their financial situation (Investopedia).
Convertible bond	A bond issued by a company that has a set maturity date and pays interest in the form of a coupon. It has features of both a bond and stock and its valuation reflects both types of investments. It gives the holder the option to convert the bond into a specific number of shares of the issuing company – in other words, it has an 'embedded option'.
Corporate bond	A bond issued by a company.
Coupon	A term used to refer to the interest paid by a bond. It derives from the fact that bonds used to be issued as bearer documents (ie. certificates which do not identify the owner) with dated coupons attached to them. These were cut off the document when the payment of the interest was due and taken to a paying agent for the interest to be paid.
Country risk	Country risk is a term for the risks involved when someone invests in a particular country. Country risk varies from one country to the next, and can include political risk, exchange-rate risk, economic risk, and transfer risk. In particular, country risk denotes the risk that a foreign government will default on its bonds or other financial commitments. In a broader sense, country risk is the degree to which political and economic unrest affect the securities of issuers doing business in a particular country.
Credit rating	Ratings issued by credit ratings agencies which represent the agency's evaluation of qualitative and quantitative information for a company or government. Ratings are used to rank companies and governments on the probability of them defaulting on their obligations (i.e. to repay their debts).
Credit risk	Usually used when referring to investment in bonds, credit risk is the risk of a loss deriving from the inability of the issuer of a bond to make the interest payments and repay the capital at the end of the life of the bond in full and as scheduled should be Triple A' or 'investment grade rated' are assessed as being the lowest credit risk while non-investment grade bonds - also known as high-yield debt (or 'junk bonds') - are assessed as the highest credit risk. The higher the credit risk, the higher the interest rate the borrower will have to attract lenders
Currency forward	A binding contract in the foreign exchange market that locks in the exchange rate for the purchase or sale of a currency on a future date. A currency forward is essentially a hedging tool that does not involve any upfront payment.
Current account (Balance of payment current account)	Movements of money into and out of a country, relating to trade between private individuals, for example workers sending money to their families in another country. The current account includes the visible balance of trade (the net difference between exports and imports of merchandise goods) and the invisible trade balance (payments and receipts for services such as shipping, banking and tourism).
Debt security	Debt security refers to a debt instrument, such as a government bond, corporate bond, certificate of deposit (CD), municipal bond or preferred stock, that can be bought or sold between two parties and has basic terms defined, such as notional amount (amount borrowed), interest rate, and maturity and renewal date.
Deflation	Deflation is the general decline in prices for goods and services occurring when the inflation rate falls below 0%. Deflation happens naturally when the money supply of an economy is fixed. In times of deflation, the purchasing power of currency and wages are higher than they otherwise would have been.
Derivatives	Financial contracts such as futures, options and various securities that offer 'synthetic' access to an underlying asset such as a commodity, stock market or fixed income security. The price movements of a derivative generally follow the price movements of the underlying asset but derivatives generally require only small amounts of capital (margin) to gain exposure to the underlying asset.
Developed markets	Countries that have sound, well-established economies with a high level of economic growth and security. They are therefore thought to offer safer, more stable investment opportunities than developing markets.

Dividend	A dividend is the distribution of reward from a portion of company's earnings, and is paid to a class of its shareholders. Dividends are decided and managed by the company's board of directors, though they must be approved by the shareholders through their voting rights. Dividends can be issued as cash payments, as shares of stock, or other property, though cash dividends are the most common.
Dividend yield	See Yield (3rd definition)
Earnings per Share (EPS)	Profit, net of tax and dividends to preferred shareholders, divided by the total amount of ordinary shares outstanding. Most income statements include a calculation of earnings per share. This calculation tells you how much money shareholders would receive for each share of stock they own if the company distributed all of its net income for the period. In reality, however, companies would not distribute all of their earnings. Usually they reinvest them in the business.
Emerging markets	Emerging market is a term used to describe a developing country, in which investment would be expected to achieve higher returns but be accompanied by greater risk. Global index providers sometimes include in this category relatively wealthy countries whose economies are still considered underdeveloped from a regulatory point of view
Equity	An ownership right representing an interest in a company.
Equity-linked security	A type of debt instrument whereby the return is linked to the performance of a group of underlying stocks or equities that are also linked to the security.
Equity swaps	An equity swap is an arrangement made in a futures contract whereby differences in settlement are made through cash payments, rather than by the delivery of physical goods or securities. This is generally an easier method of settlement, because both losses and gains are paid in cash. Equity swaps provide investors with all the benefits and risks of owning a security without actually owning it.
EPS	See Earnings per share
Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)	Index-tracking funds that can be traded on exchanges just like a stock – so they combine the diversified holdings of a fund with the low cost and tradability of a share.
Exposure	Exposure (or market exposure) refers to the currency amount of funds, or percentage of a portfolio, invested in a particular type of security, market sector or industry, which is usually expressed as a percentage of total portfolio holdings. It represents the amount an investor can lose from the risks unique to a particular investment.
External account	See Current account
Financial derivative instruments	See Derivatives
Fixed income	Term used to denote bonds and other debt instruments, because they normally pay a fixed interest rate.
Foreign exchange	Foreign exchange is the exchange of one currency for another or the conversion of one currency into another currency. Foreign exchange also refers to the global market where currencies are traded virtually around the clock.
Forward contract	A forward contract is a customised contract between two counterparties to buy or sell a specific asset on a future date at an agreed price. As opposed to stocks and bonds, a forward contract is a derivative instrument, the value of which depends on an underlying asset. Unlike standard futures contracts, forward contracts are not traded on a centralised exchange and are highly customisable.
Free Cash Flow (FCF)	The cash a company has after all outgoings, including dividends, debt payments, tax, operating costs and capital expenditure.
Fund sector	Funds are into sectors to facilitate comparisons between funds with similar investment objectives and types of investment.
Futures contract	An agreement to buy or sell a stated amount of a security, currency or commodity at a specific future date and at a pre-agreed price.
GDP	See Gross Domestic Product
GNP	See Gross National Product
Government bond	Bonds issued by a government.
Gross Domestic Product (GDP)	The total value of an economy's domestic output of goods and services, which is one of the key indicators of economic growth with GNP.

Gross National Product (GNP)	Same as GDP except that it adds what a country earns from overseas investments and subtracts what foreigners earn in a country and send back home.
Index	An index is a portfolio of stocks, chosen according to simple, pre-defined rules, and designed to capture a particular investment style.
Inflation	Rate at which the general level of prices for goods and services is rising and, consequently, the purchasing power of currency is falling.
Interest rate	Interest rate is the amount charged, expressed as a percentage of principal, by a lender to a borrower for the use of assets. Interest rates are typically noted on an annual basis, known as the annual percentage rate (APR). The assets borrowed could include cash, consumer goods, and large assets such as a vehicle or building.
Liquidity	A relative term to describe the speed at which an asset or assets can be converted into cash (liquidated) and vice versa.
Listed	In relation to the shares of a company, or some funds, when those shares have been accepted for trading on an exchange they are referred to as 'listed' investments. The exchange will have 'listing requirements', which all companies/funds must meet before they are 'accepted for listing'. The opposite of listed is over-the-counter.
Local currency	The most commonly form of currency used in a country. This usually encompasses the national currency of the country.
Long position	A security that is bought in expectation that it will rise in value.
Market capitalisation	Market value of a company's issued share capital – in other words, the number of shares multiplied by the current price of those shares on the stock market. Companies are ranked as large-cap, mid-cap and small-cap depending on their market capitalisation (market cap), though the actual criteria for classification depend on the market concerned.
Maturity date	The maturity date is the date on which the principal amount of a debt instrument becomes due and is repaid to the investor and interest payments stop.
Money market instruments	Instruments used by government and companies and others who wish to borrow money for short periods, usually less than a year. They are also called short term debt instruments. They include certificates of deposit, commercial paper and short term gilts.
Municipal bond	A bond issued by a state or local government (or related entities) in the US to cover capital expenditures.
Option	A derivative instrument that gives the holder the right, without obligation, to buy (call) or sell (put) a security or asset at a fixed price within a specified period or at a particular future date.
Ordinary shares	Securities (called common stock in the US) that confer ownership in a publicly listed company. Holders are entitled to the dividends declared by the company and have the right to vote on the appointment of directors and other important matters. However they rank below holders of preferred shares.
Over the counter (OTC)	Generally refers to a stock (but can also refer to other financial instruments) that is not listed on an exchange and traded via a dealer network.
Overvalued	When a share price or market is trading at levels above those justified by fundamentals.
Overweight	Investment portfolio that holds an excess amount of a particular security when compared to the security's weight in the underlying benchmark portfolio. Actively managed portfolios will make a security overweight when doing so allows the portfolio to achieve excess returns. Overweight can also refer to an investment analyst's opinion that the security will outperform its industry, its sector or the entire market.
Passive management	Passive management is a style of management where a fund's portfolio mirrors a market index. Passive management is the opposite of active management. Passive management is also referred to as "passive strategy," "passive investing" or "index investing".
Preference shares	Also called preferred shares. Shares that entitle the holder to a fixed-rate dividend, paid before any dividend is distributed to holders of ordinary shares.
Preferred stock	See Preference shares
P/B Ratio	See Price-to-Book Ratio

Price-to-Book Ratio (P/B ratio)	The P/B ratio reflects the value that market participants attach to a company's equity relative to its book value (total assets minus total liabilities) of equity. A stock's market value is a forward-looking metric that reflects a company's future cash flows. The book value of equity is an accounting measure based on the historic cost principle, and reflects past issuances of equity, augmented by any profits or losses, and reduced by dividends and share buybacks. The higher the ratio, the higher the premium the market is willing to pay for the company above its hard assets. A low ratio may signal a good investment opportunity, but it could also mean something is fundamentally wrong with the company. The ratio is less meaningful for some types of companies, such as those in technology sectors. This is because such companies have hidden assets such as intellectual property which are of great value, but not reflected in the book value.
Primary market	The market for new securities issues. In the primary market the security is purchased directly from the issuer.
Quantitative analysis	Quantitative analysis (QA) is a technique that seeks to understand behaviour by using mathematical and statistical modelling, measurement, and research. Quantitative analysts aim to represent a given reality in terms of a numerical value. Quantitative analysis is employed for several reasons, including measurement, performance evaluation or valuation of a financial instrument, and predicting real-world events, such as changes in a country's gross domestic product (GDP).
Quantitative easing (QE)	Quantitative easing is an unconventional monetary policy in which a central bank purchases government securities or other securities from the market in order to lower interest rates and increase the money supply. Quantitative easing increases the money supply by flooding financial institutions with capital in an effort to promote increased lending and liquidity. When short-term interest rates are at or approaching zero, and when the printing of new banknotes isn't an option, quantitative easing can be considered.
Quantitative trading	A form of investing in which computers are used to sort through financial data and identify predictable patterns. Quantitative traders take advantage of modern technology, mathematics and the availability of comprehensive databases for making rational trading decisions to identify trading opportunities.
Reference index	An index used as a benchmark for performance comparison purposes but which is not a formal benchmark as per fund's prospectus.
Return on capital	The profit on an investment in relation to the amount invested which is not considered as a taxable event and not taxed as income.
Risk-adjusted return	Risk-adjusted return defines an investment's return by measuring how much risk is involved in producing that return, which is generally expressed as a number or rating. Risk-adjusted returns are applied to individual securities, investment funds and portfolios.
Secondary market	A market in which an investor purchases a security from another investor rather than the issuer, subsequent to the original issuance in the primary market.
Sector	A sector is an area of the economy in which businesses share the same or a related product or service. It can also be thought of as an industry or market that shares common operating characteristics. Dividing an economy into different pieces allows for more in-depth analysis of the economy as a whole.
Share	See Equity
Short position	Fund managers use this technique to borrow a security and then sell it with the intention of buying it back for less when the price falls. The position profits if the security falls in value. Within UCITS funds, derivatives – such as equity swaps – can be used to simulate a short position.
Security	A general term for stocks, bonds, options, subscription rights, warrants and other tradable investments that confer a right to income or ownership.
Sovereign debt	Sovereign debt is a central government's debt. It is debt issued by the national government in a foreign currency in order to finance the issuing country's growth and development. The stability of the issuing government can be provided by the country's sovereign credit ratings which help investors weigh risks when assessing sovereign debt investments.
Sovereign risk	See Country Risk
Stock	See Equity
Stock option	The right to buy or sell a particular stock at a given price on or after a certain date. Stock options are often used as an employee incentive at start-ups or large public companies.
Swap	An exchange of streams of payments between two parties, typically in order to reduce interest rate or currency risk.

Synthetic	Term given to financial instruments that are created artificially by simulating other instruments with different cash flow patterns. Synthetic products are structured to suit the cash flow needs of the investor. They are created in the form of a contract and, therefore, given the name "synthetic".
Transferable security	Any security that can be traded in the capital markets.
Treasury bill (T-bill)	A Treasury Bill (T-Bill) is a short-term debt obligation backed by the Treasury Department of the U.S. government with a maturity of less than one year, sold in denominations of $1,000 up to a maximum purchase of $5 million on non-competitive bids. T-bills have various maturities and are issued at a discount from par. Investors do not receive regular interest payments but a T-Bill does include interest, reflected in the amount it pays when it matures.
Total output	The total amount of goods and services produced within an economy.
Total return	Total return is the full return on an investment over a given period, including the income generated from dividend, interest or rental payments, and any gains or losses from a change in the asset's market value. This is normally expressed as a percentage of the purchase cost, annualised if the period is less than a year.
Undervalued	When a share price or market is trading at levels below those justified by fundamentals.
Underweight	An underweight portfolio does not hold a sufficient amount of a particular security when compared to the weight of that security held in the underlying benchmark portfolio. Underweight can also refer to an analyst's opinion regarding the future performance of a security in scenarios where it is expected to underperform.
Volatility	The extent to which the price of a security or commodity, or the level of a market, interest rate or currency, changes over time. High volatility implies rapid and large upward and downward movements over a relatively short period of time; low volatility implies much smaller and less frequent changes in value.
Warrant	A financial instrument, normally attached to a bond or other security that entitles the holder to purchase a certain amount of ordinary shares at a fixed price for a period of years or to perpetuity. The price at which the underlying shares can be bought or sold is referred to as the exercise price or strike price.
Yield	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The annual rate of return on an investment, expressed as a percentage.2. For bonds and notes, the coupon rate divided by the market price. This is not an accurate measure of total return, since it does not factor in capital gains.3. For securities, the annual dividends divided by the purchase price. This is not an accurate measure of total return, since it does not factor in capital gains. Here, also called dividend yield or current yield.

Man GLG European Equity Alternative

Man GLG European Equity Alternative's investment objective was to provide investors with positive returns primarily through investments in issuers in Europe and of issuers which derived a substantial part of their revenues from activities in Europe.

The Portfolio's policy was to achieve those returns through investments in short, medium and, to a lesser extent, long-term investment opportunities. This policy was pursued through a strategy of active trading with the Portfolio primarily invested in listed equities including, without limitation, common stock and other equity and equity-linked securities (which might included, but were not limited to, such instruments as options and swaps), of issuers in Europe and of issuers which derived a substantial part of their revenues from activities in Europe.

Man GLG European Equity Alternative ceased its operations on 13 May 2024.

Man TargetRisk Global Equities

Man TargetRisk Global Equities aims to generate capital growth over the medium term by providing risk managed dynamic exposure to a portfolio of global equity securities and financial derivative instruments.

The Portfolio may seek to achieve its investment objectives and policies by (a) direct exposure : The Portfolio will seek to achieve its objective through a dynamically risk managed global equity portfolio. The dynamic, risk managed approach means that the Investment Manager seeks to manage market exposure of the portfolio in an active, risk-aware manner so as to control downside risk, via short positions in liquid equity index futures and/or (b) indirectly through the use of one or more total return swaps ("TRS").

2. Material accounting policies

(a) Accounting convention

The unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance International Accounting Standard 34: Interim Financial Reporting (“IAS 34”) as adopted by the European Union (“EU”). The unaudited financial statements have been prepared using the historical cost basis except for financial assets and liabilities held at fair value through profit or loss which have been measured at fair value.

The unaudited financial statements do not include all the information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements, and should be read in conjunction with the Fund’s audited annual financial statements as at 31 December 2023 which have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) as adopted by the European Union. These unaudited interim financial statements have been compiled using accounting policies, methods of computation and presentation which are consistent with the audited annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2023, unless otherwise stated.

The preparation of unaudited financial statements in accordance with IFRS requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported and disclosures made in these unaudited financial statements and accompanying notes, including certain valuation assumptions. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets or liabilities in the future.

The combined fund balances are expressed in US$, being the presentation currency of the Fund as a whole. For combined fund balances in unaudited statement of financial position, the non US$ Portfolios are translated using the exchange rate at the date of unaudited statement of financial position. For combined fund balances in unaudited statement of comprehensive income, the non US$ Portfolios are translated at the average exchange rate prevailing during the period. The combined subscriptions and redemptions in the unaudited statement of changes in net assets are also translated at the average rate prevailing during the current period. The translation loss resulting from the preparation of the combined fund balances in the unaudited financial statements amounting to US$82,746,371 (30 June 2023: gain of US$154,156,326) has been shown in the combined fund column of unaudited statement of comprehensive income. The gain/(loss) does not have any effect on the individual Portfolios.

(b) Changes in accounting policy and disclosure

New standards, interpretations and amendments adopted by the Fund:

There were no recent accounting pronouncements applicable to the Fund in the current period.

At the date of authorisation of the financial statements there were a number of other Standards and Interpretations which were in issue but not yet effective. Management anticipate that the adoption of these Standards and Interpretations in future periods will have no material impact on the financial statements of the Fund.

3. Cash and cash equivalents, bank overdraft, collateral balances with brokers and collateral balances due to brokers

At the period end, amounts disclosed as cash and cash equivalents, bank overdraft, collateral balances with brokers and collateral balances due to brokers were held at the Bank of America Merrill Lynch, Bank of New York Mellon (London Branch), Barclays Plc, BNP Paribas, Citibank N.A., Deutsche Bank AG, London, Goldman Sachs International, HSBC Bank Plc, JP Morgan Securities Plc, Morgan Stanley & Co. International Plc, Royal Bank of Scotland and Societe Generale. Collateral balances with brokers represent the margin account balances held with the broker and collateral balances due to broker represents an amount payable to broker as a result of margin or collateral amount payable at the period end. These include amounts transferred as collateral (which is subject to a security) against open derivatives, short positions or financial instruments purchased on margin, deposits held at call with banks and other short term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less.

Included in cash and cash equivalents balances at 30 June 2024 is US T-bills with a fair value of US$5,996,515 (cost: US$5,936,253) (31 December 2023: US$Nil (cost: US$Nil)) for Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative, French Discount T-bills with, a fair value of €Nil (cost: €Nil) (31 December 2023: €2,997,975 (cost: €2,973,385)) for Man GLG European Equity Alternative, a fair value of €Nil (cost: €Nil) (31 December 2023: €1,595,300 (cost: €1,587,054)) for Man GLG European Mid-Cap Equity Alternative.

Due from brokers and to brokers represent receivables for financial instruments sold and payables for financial instruments purchased that have been contracted for but not yet settled or delivered on the unaudited statement of financial position date, respectively.

3. Cash and cash equivalents, bank overdraft, collateral balances with brokers and collateral balances due to brokers (continued)

4. Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Fair value of financial instruments

The Fund classifies fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in determining the measurements in line with IFRS 13.

The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 – Quoted market price in an active market for an identical instrument.
- Level 2 – Valuation techniques based on observable inputs. This category includes instruments valued using: quoted market prices in active markets for similar instruments; quoted prices for similar instruments in markets that are considered less than active; or other valuation techniques where all significant inputs are directly or indirectly observable from market data.
- Level 3 – Valuation techniques using significant unobservable inputs. This category includes all instruments where the valuation technique includes inputs not based on observable data and the unobservable inputs could have a significant impact on the instrument's valuation. This category includes instruments that are valued based on quoted prices for similar instruments where significant unobservable adjustments or assumptions are required to reflect differences between the instruments.

Valuation techniques

Listed or publicly traded investment in equity and debt securities, managed funds and derivatives

When fair values of listed securities and debt securities at the reporting date, as well as publicly traded derivatives, are based on quoted market prices or binding dealer price quotations, without any deduction for transaction costs, the instruments are included within Level 1 of the hierarchy.

Unlisted debt securities and treasury bills

The Fund invests in debt securities, corporate and government bonds and treasury securities. In the absence of a quoted price in an active market, they are valued using observable inputs such as recently executed transaction prices in securities of the issuer or comparable issuers and yield curves. Adjustments are made to the valuations when necessary to recognise differences in the instruments terms. To the extent that the significant inputs are observable, the Fund categorises these investments as Level 2.

4. Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (continued)

Unlisted asset-backed securities

The fair values of investments in asset-backed securities, for which there is currently no active market, are calculated using a valuation model which is accepted in the industry. The most frequently applied valuation techniques include forward pricing and swap models, using present value calculations. The models incorporate various inputs including both credit and debit valuation adjustments for counterparty and own credit risk, foreign exchange spot and forward rates and interest rate curves. For these financial instruments, significant inputs into models are market observable and are included within Level 2.

Over-the-counter derivatives

The Fund uses widely recognised valuation models for determining fair values of over-the-counter interest rate swaps, currency swaps and forward foreign exchange contracts. The most frequently applied valuation techniques include forward pricing and swap models, using present value calculations. The models incorporate various inputs including both credit and debit valuation adjustments for counterparty and own credit risk, foreign exchange spot and forward rates and interest rate curves. For these financial instruments, significant inputs into models are market observable and are included within Level 2.

Unlisted equity investments

The Fund invests in private equity companies which are not quoted in an active market. Transactions in such investments do not occur on a regular basis. The Fund uses a market based valuation technique for these positions. The Investment Manager determines comparable public companies (peers) based on industry, size, leverage and strategy, and calculates an appropriate earnings multiple for each comparable company identified. The multiple is calculated by dividing the enterprise value of the comparable company by an earnings measure. The trading multiple is then discounted for considerations such as illiquidity and size differences between the comparable companies based on company-specific facts and circumstances. The discounted multiple is applied to the corresponding earnings measure of the investee company to measure the fair value. The Fund classifies the fair value of these investments as Level 3.

Unlisted managed funds

The Fund invests in managed funds which are not quoted in an active market and which may be subject to restrictions on redemptions such as lock up periods, redemption gates and side pockets. The Investment Manager considers the valuation techniques and inputs used in valuing these funds as part of its due diligence prior to investing, to ensure they are reasonable and appropriate and therefore the NAV of these funds may be used as an input into measuring their fair value. In measuring this fair value, the NAV of the funds is adjusted, as necessary, to reflect restrictions on redemptions, future commitments, and other specific factors of the fund and fund manager. In measuring fair value, consideration is also paid to any transactions in the shares of the Fund. Depending on the nature and level of adjustments needed to the NAV and the level of trading in the fund, the Fund classifies these funds as either Level 2 or Level 3.

For all other financial instruments, fair value is determined using valuation techniques. Valuation techniques include net present value techniques, comparison to similar instruments for which market observable prices exist, options pricing models and other relevant valuation models.

Man Global Technology Equity Alternative commenced its operations on 3 April 2024, hence there were no investments as at 31 December 2023.

4. Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (continued)

Short-term balances are excluded from the tables as their carrying value at the period end approximates their fair value.

Investments are reviewed at each financial reporting point to ensure that they are correctly classified between Level 1, 2 and 3 in accordance with the fair value hierarchy outlined above. Where an investment's characteristics change during the period and investments no longer meet the criteria of a given level, they are transferred into a more appropriate level at the end of relevant financial reporting period.

For the period/year ended 30 June 2024 and 31 December 2023, there were no transfers between Level 1 and Level 2.

A reconciliation of the movements in Level 3 assets/liabilities for the period ended 30 June 2024 and 31 December 2023 is set out below:

The fair value of investments classified within Level 3 is based on unobservable inputs that may be subject to significant variability. Because of the inherent uncertainty of valuations with respect to such investments, the Fund's estimates of fair value may differ significantly from fair values that would have been used had observable inputs been available for the valuation of such investments, and the differences could be material.

The table below discloses the valuation technique used in the valuation of Level 3 investments and quantifies the effect of significant unobservable inputs used to value investments that fall in this category. The ranges of these fair value are not representative of the appropriate inputs to use when calculating the fair value of any one Level 3 asset or liability. Accordingly, the ranges of fair value presented below do not represent certainty in, or possible ranges of fair value measurements of the Fund's Level 3 assets/liabilities.

The fair value impact of the discount range disclosed above is the Investment Manager's assessment of the range of possible illiquidity discounts. The Investment Manager's Independent Pricing Committee has assessed that, based on the information available, there is no reason that the net asset value provided by the underlying managed funds Investment Managers or their administrators should not represent the most appropriate basis for valuing these assets and therefore no fair value adjustment is applied. The impact of the range of possible unobservable impacts on the fair value of investments is an increase/decrease of up to €54,326/(€54,326) (31 December 2023: increase/decrease of up to €2,071,859/(€2,071,859) for Man GLG High Yield Opportunities.

Forward currency contracts

As part of its portfolio management techniques, the Fund may use forward currency contracts to economically hedge any non-functional currency exposure (although formal hedge accounting is not used). Forward currency contracts may also be used for trading purposes. Forward currency contracts entered into by the Fund represent a firm commitment to buy or sell an underlying asset, or currency at a specified value and point in time based upon an agreed or contracted quantity.

Forward currency contracts may expose the Fund to the risks associated with the absence of an exchange market on which to close out an open position. The Investment Managers closely monitor the Fund's exposure under forward currency contracts as part of the overall management of the Fund's market risk.

Derivative financial instruments

The Fund may trade derivative financial instruments, including equity swaps, futures contracts, forward currency contracts, swaps contracts, option contracts, rights and warrants whose values are based upon an underlying asset, index, currency or interest rate.

The Fund is subject to both market and credit risk in trading derivative financial instruments. Market risk is the potential for changes in value due to changes in market interest rates, foreign exchange rates, indices and changes in the value of the underlying financial instruments. Credit risk is the possibility that a loss may occur if a counterparty fails to perform according to the terms of the contract. Substantially all derivative contracts are transacted on a margin basis. Such transactions may expose the Fund to significant off-balance sheet risk in the event margin deposits and collateral investments are not sufficient to cover losses incurred.

The Investment Manager manages the risk associated with these transactions by maintaining margin deposits and collateral investments with its brokers in compliance with individual exchange regulations and internal guidelines. The Investment Manager also takes an active role in managing and controlling the Fund's market and counterparty risks and monitoring trading activities and margin levels daily, and, as necessary, deposits additional collateral or reduces positions.

Credit default swaps are contracts in which the Fund pays or receives an interest flow in return for the counterparty accepting or selling all or part of the risk of default or failure to pay of a reference entity on which the swap is written. Where the Fund has bought protection, the maximum potential loss is the value of the interest flows the Fund is contracted to pay until maturity of the contract. Where the Fund has sold protection, the maximum potential loss is the nominal value of the protection sold.

The Fund may purchase or write put and call options through OTC markets. Options purchased by the Fund provide the Fund with the opportunity to purchase (call options) or sell (put options) the underlying asset at an agreed-upon value either on or before the expiration of the option. Options written by the Fund provide the purchaser of the option the opportunity to purchase from or sell to the Fund the underlying asset at an agreed-upon value either on or before the expiration of the option. Premiums received from writing options are marked-to-market and the resulting gains or losses are recorded in the Unaudited statement of comprehensive income. The Fund may also invest in swaptions which are a combination of feature an option and an interest rate swap. The maximum loss to a buyer of an option is the loss of the premium. The writer of a call option has to bear the risk of an unfavourable change in the value underlying the option and, unless an offsetting long position is owned, the theoretical loss is unlimited. As at 30 June 2024, the Fund held written put options with a maximum pay out value US$34,200,000 (31 December 2023: US$4,680,000) Man GLG Emerging Markets Corporate Credit Alternative.

Derivative financial instruments are generally based on notional amounts which are not recorded in the unaudited financial statements. These notional amounts represent the theoretical principal value on which the cash flows of the derivative transactions are based. Unrealised gains or losses, rather than notional amounts, or the exchange-traded derivatives traded by the Fund are included in the unaudited statement of financial position. The net unrealised gains or losses, rather than contract or notional amounts, represent the Fund's approximate future cash flows from trading activities.

As at 30 June 2024 and 31 December 2023, the Fund's exposure through in its investments in derivative financial instruments to underlying positions in notional amounts which are summarised as follows:

* The amount paid to each Administrator and Investment Manager is determined between the parties from time to time, but, for the avoidance of doubt, the Investment Manager receives only the portion of the administration fee relating to the administrative support services it provides pursuant to the Administrative Services Agreement. Part of the administration fee will be paid by the Fund to the Manager (for on-payment to the Administrator) monthly in arrears and the remainder will be paid by the Fund to the Investment Manager.

The Manager shall also be entitled to reimbursement of all out-of-pocket expenses incurred for the benefit of the Company including expenses incurred by the Investment Manager, the Administrator and/or by the Distributor and charged to it.

Administration fees and expense reimbursement are included in accrued expenses and other liabilities and other assets, respectively in the unaudited statement of financial position.

The above amounts are payable on demand and do not bear interest.

The Directors are satisfied that there are arrangements in place to ensure that transactions carried out with connected parties of the Portfolio are carried out as if negotiated at arm's length and any such transactions are in the best interests of the shareholders of the Portfolio. The Directors are satisfied that any transactions entered into with connected parties during the period complied with the aforementioned obligation.

All transactions with the connected parties were entered into the ordinary course of business and on normal commercial terms.

11. Soft commissions

In line with the introduction of revised rules in respect of the use of dealing commission as part of the implementation of the Directive 2014/65/EU on Markets in Financial Instruments and amending Directive 2004/39/EC ("MiFID II"), effective from 3 January 2018 the Investment Manager no longer pays for its investment research via dealing commission. The Investment Manager has established a research budget and the Portfolios have accrued a fee to pay for the research services independent of trade execution. The Investment Manager will share the research costs with the Portfolios based on an allocated usage basis. All transactions are placed and executed on the basis that best execution is achieved.

The Fund incurred transaction costs including equity swaps commissions which are included in the net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income.

13. Securities Financing Transactions Regulation

The Securities Financing Transactions Regulation, as published by the European Securities and Markets Authority, aims to improve the transparency of the security financing markets. Disclosures regarding exposures to Securities Financing Transactions (SFTs) will be required on all reports and accounts published.

As at 30 June 2024, certain Portfolios engaged in securities financing transactions, refer to the reporting requirement in respect of the Securities Financing Transactions Regulation section for details.

14. Significant events during the period

Prospectus

A new Supplement for the GLG Partners LP Portfolios was issued on 8 February 2024 to the Prospectus dated 1 December 2022. The amendments to the Prospectus reflected the removal of ICE BofA European Currency High Yield Constrained Index (Hedged) benchmark from Man GLG High Yield Opportunities and Man GLG High Yield Opportunities DE and noted the addition of new share classes to certain Portfolios.

A new Supplement for the GLG Partners LP Portfolios was issued on 14 March 2024 to the Prospectus dated 1 December 2022. The amendment to the Prospectus reflected the launch of Man Global Technology Equity Alternative and noted the addition of new share classes to certain Portfolios.

14. Significant events during the period (continued)

The Directors, Investment Managers and the Manager acknowledge the current crisis in Ukraine and all applicable Russian related sanctions. The Investment Managers reviewed the positions held across Man Funds VI plc for any Russian and Ukrainian exposure. Appropriate action has been taken to reduce or remove certain direct exposures to Russia, where necessary, and the situation is under ongoing review.

The ongoing political instability in the region is an additional risk factor which is being monitored and could impact the valuation of the Fund's assets after the period end.

There were no other significant events during the period ended 30 June 2024.

15. Subsequent events since the period end

Dividends proposed for the period ended 30 June 2024 were paid on 9 July 2024.

Effective 11 July 2024 a revised Supplement for Man Solutions Limited Portfolios was issued. It provided for amendments to permitted investments and strategy flexibility for Man Alternative Style Risk Premia and increase in timing for trading for both Man Alternative Style Risk Premia and Man TargetRisk Global Equities.

In early August 2024, financial markets experienced significant turbulence due to the unwinding of leveraged trades in equity and currency markets which led to a brief spike in volatility.

There have been no other significant events since the period end that impact the Fund and require disclosure in the unaudited financial statements.

16. Stock lending

The Fund may enter into stock lending programmes organised by generally recognised International Central Securities Depositories Systems provided that the programme is subject to a guarantee from the system operator. As at 30 June 2024, the Fund has a stock lending programme in place with Bank of New York Mellon, (London Branch).

Net income earned by the sub-funds from securities lending activity during the period and fees paid to the securities lending agent were as outlined below:

Common Reporting Standard - Data Protection Information Notice

The Fund hereby provides the following data protection information notice to all Shareholders in the Fund either as of 31 December 2015 or at any point of time since this date.

For the avoidance of doubt, this notice applies equally to any Shareholders that have ceased to hold Shares in the Fund since 1 January 2016. Furthermore, it should be noted that this notice is applicable to Controlling Persons of certain Shareholders. The Fund hereby confirm that they intend to take such steps as may be required to satisfy any obligations imposed by (i) the OECD's Standards for Automatic Exchange of Financial Account Information in Tax Matters ("the Standard"), which therein contains Common Reporting Standards ("CRS"), as applied in Ireland by mean of the relevant international legal framework and Irish tax legislation and (ii) EU Council Directive 2014/107/EU, amending Directive 2011/16/EU as regards mandatory automatic exchange information in the field of taxation ("DAC2"), as applied in Ireland by the means of the relevant tax legislation, so as to ensure compliance or deemed compliance (as the case may be) with the Standard/CRS and the DAC2 from 1 January 2016. In this regard, the Investment Manager on behalf of the Fund is obliged under Section 891F and Section 891G of the Irish Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997 (as amended) and regulations made pursuant to those sections to collect certain information about each Shareholder's tax arrangements (and also collect information in relation to relevant Controlling Persons of Specific Shareholders).

In certain circumstances, the Investment Manager on behalf of the Fund may be legally obliged to share this information and other financial information with respect to a Shareholder's interests in the Fund with the Irish Revenue Commissioners (and, in particular situations, also share information in relation to relevant Controlling Persons of specific Shareholders). In turn, and to the extent the account has been identified as a Reportable Account, the Irish Revenue Commissioners will exchange this information with the country of residence of the Reportable Person(s) in respect of the Reportable Account.

In particular, information that may be reported in respect of a Shareholder (and relevant Controlling Persons, if applicable) includes name, address, date of birth, place of birth, account number, account balance or value at period end (or, if the account was closed during such period, the balance or value at the date of the closure of the account), any payments (including redemption and dividend/interest payments) made with respect to the account during the calendar year, tax residency(ies) and tax identification number(s).

Report of Directors' Remuneration (Unaudited)

The directors of the Fund who are also employees of Man Group plc and companies within its group structure ("Man Group") do not receive any remuneration in respect of their services as directors of the Fund. The other directors receive fixed remuneration in respect of their services which is set at a level determined by the Board as a whole and which is not performance related. This is detailed in note 8 of these financial statements. None of the directors are currently in receipt of variable remuneration in respect of their services as directors of the Fund and none of the directors are currently in receipt of a pension from the Fund. The Fund has appointed Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited as its UCITS management company. As such, the provisions of Article 14b of Directive 2009/65/EC in relation to remuneration are not applicable to the Fund. However, they do apply to Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited, which has adopted a remuneration policy to ensure compliance.

The Investment Manager may, on behalf of each sub-fund and subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Financial Conduct Authority and the Prospectus, employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities, including investments in OTC Financial Derivative Instruments (“FDI”) provided that such techniques and instruments are used for efficient portfolio management purposes or to provide protection against exchange risk or for direct investment purposes, where applicable.

The Fund engaged in securities lending activity during the year for the purposes of efficient portfolio management, and invested in equity swaps, total return swaps, repos or reverse repos.

Securities Lending

All securities lending transactions entered into by the sub-funds are subject to a written legal agreement between the sub-funds and the Lending Agent, which is the Bank of New York Mellon, London Branch, and separately between the Lending Agent and the approved borrowing counterparty. Collateral received in exchange for securities lent is delivered to an account in the name of the Depository on behalf of the sub-funds. Collateral received is segregated from the assets belonging to the sub-funds Depository or the Lending Agent.

The total income earned from securities lending transactions is split between the relevant sub-funds and the securities lending agent. The sub-funds receives at least 80% while the securities lending agent receives up to 20% of such income with all operational costs borne out of the securities lending agent’s share. Income received during the year by each sub-fund from securities lending transactions is disclosed in other income in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income included as part of the financial statements.

Net income earned by the sub-funds from securities lending activity during the year and fees paid to the securities lending agent were as outlined below:

	Income earned	Fees paid
Man GLG Alpha Select Alternative	£103,748	-
Man GLG European Equity Alternative	€645	-
Man GLG European Mid-Cap Equity Alternative	€411	-

Income earned by the Fund from the reinvestment of cash collateral in repos, net of any interest payable to the relevant counterparty, outlined below for the period ended 30 June 2024 and is presented within other income in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income:

	Income Earned
Man GLG European Equity Alternative	€138

All of the non-cash collateral received by the Fund was held by BNY Mellon, London Branch on a tri party settlement basis as at 30 June 2024.

100% of cash collateral is maintained in a segregated account with the custodian. 100% of non-cash collateral is maintained in pooled accounts.

Portfolio Swaps

OTC derivative transactions are entered into by the Fund under an International Swaps and Derivatives Associations, Inc. Master Agreement (“ISDA Master Agreement”) or similar agreement. An ISDA Master Agreement is a bilateral agreement between the Fund and a counterparty that governs OTC derivative transactions (including total return swaps and portfolio swaps) entered into by the parties. All OTC derivative transactions entered under an ISDA Master agreement are netted together for collateral purposes therefore any collateral disclosures provided below/elsewhere in the report are in respect of all OTC derivative transactions entered into by the Fund under the ISDA Master agreement, not just portfolio swaps.

The collateral figures provided on the next page relate to collateral held to support specific Securities Financing Transactions Regulation (“SFTRs”), other cash held at brokers to support SFTRs, and other derivative transactions held at brokers where SFTRs are transacted.
