Semi-Annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements for the financial period from 1 November 2022 to 30 April 2023

Investment Manager's Report

Aegon Strategic Global Bond Fund – to 30th April 2023

The Aegon Strategic Global Bond Fund returned 7.75% over the period, compared to the peer group median return of 5.69%.

Bond markets endured a rollercoaster ride over the six-month period, with concerns over rising inflation the main driver. However, despite the volatility in markets, corporate bond markets rallied over the period and outperformed their government bond counterparts. US Treasuries performed relatively well while German bunds were more subdued. The outlier was the UK government bond market, which struggled over the period and underperformed.

The elevated inflation levels were mainly manifested in higher energy and food prices, ongoing strong jobs data in the US, and a surprise move by the Bank of Japan in December to loosen its longstanding commitment to yield curve control. Given the inflationary backdrop, core central banks subsequently raised base rates over the period.

There were instances, however, where inflationary data appeared to weaken, particularly as we moved into 2023 with natural gas prices falling sharply. Markets therefore moved to price-in a peak in rate rises as they looked for further signs of inflation slowing.

Given the extent to which interest rates had already risen it was almost inevitable that some stresses would emerge at some point. These stresses duly arrived in March, when economic fundamentals gave way to fears over the health of the banking system, first in the regional US banking sector, but latterly in Europe where Credit Suisse was "rescued" by UBS, with a little help from the Swiss National Bank. While this had a negative impact on credit markets initially – and led to a 'flight-to-safety' trade that benefit government bonds - the quick reaction of central banks to alleviate the pressure on the sector helped to calm markets and allowed risk assets to rally into the end of the period.

Strategy

We actively managed duration risk over the period, but overall held an elevated level, which benefitted performance. In the first half of the period, reducing duration, particularly in Europe, and being overweight US duration at the expense of European duration overall, benefited relative performance. On the other hand, we lost some performance from being long Australian and New Zealand rates markets, which were caught up in the sell-off following the Bank of Japan's move.

The fund entered the new year with an elevated level of interest rate risk, with headline duration approximately 8 years, allowing the fund to benefit from a sharp rally in government bonds. As the rally matured, the level of duration was reduced to almost 6 years, in part due to a new short position in 10-year Japanese bond futures. With the back-up in yields in February, we steadily added duration again through increased allocations to the UK and US. As the news around Silicon Valley Bank and the crisis in the US broke, we further increased the duration of the fund, first to 7 years and then close to 7.75 years as the crisis intensified. This action added value to the fund with the exposure to US interest rate risk - particularly shorter-dated bonds. When a degree of 'calm' returned to the market, we banked the profit from this additional duration and moved towards 7.25 years at a headline level. Come April the fund's duration position added value as government bond spreads broadly finished inside their yield levels at the beginning of the month, albeit US government bonds outperformed. This was in turn complementary to our positioning and was to the fund's benefit.

With regards to credit risk, our allocation was a positive contributor to overall fund performance, given the recovery seen in both yields and credit spreads. The strong recovery in high yield bonds was particularly favourable, while our investment grade corporate bonds also benefited from the drop in yields and narrowing in spreads. Throughout the first half of the period credit spreads continued to rally, in both investment grade and high yield, and it was the turn of Europe to perform particularly well on an absolute basis, as well as in relative terms. The positive price action continued up to the new year, on back of hopes of a peak in inflation across global markets as well as some of the major central banks stepping down the pace of interest rate hikes.

We had a clear preference to hold corporate bonds over governments as the year began and this had mixed fortunes. It delivered a strong performance in January before coming under pressure in March – and in this time frame spreads were marginally wider while still delivering a positive total return.

We were positioned to full take advantage of the risk-rally in January, having viewed valuations as very attractive through the latter part of 2022. The strong demand for corporate bonds saw a meaningful rally from almost the first minute of the new year, with financial debt and the high yield market leading the rally. The extent and pace of the spread compression prompted us to moderate our exposure by buying CDS protection in the US CDX High Yield contract in January.

As the stresses in the banking sector emerged in March, we further reduced the degree of credit market risk through the buying of additional credit protection via the iTraxx Subordinated Financial contract. While this credit protection helped offset some of the downside, it was unable to mitigate the full impact of the decline in our underlying bond holdings. Although we had no direct exposure to any Credit Suisse AT1's, the impact their write down had on whole sub-financial sector was meaningful and our exposure to this part of the market suffered in the knee-jerk reaction to the news. By the end of March, we had seen somewhat of a recovery in this area but by no means fully reversing the weakness. With credit spreads having gapped wider mid-month, we started to add back some credit risk through the removal of the subordinated financial credit protection. Risk assets staged a comeback in April and we saw spread compression across both subordinated financials as well as high yielding debt. This was to be expected after the market volatility that we saw in March.

The outlook remains constructive for fixed income markets but this view is not without its risks. Inflation appears to have peaked and is currently falling to varying degrees across countries and underlying economic activity is slowing (with risks to the downside). The combination of these factors will likely bring the Central Bank hiking cycle to an end in the coming months.

Aegon Investment Grade Global Bond Fund – to 30th April 2023

The Aegon Investment Grade Global Bond Fund returned 8.71%, outperforming the benchmark return of 7.83%.

Bond markets endured a rollercoaster ride over the six-month period, with concerns over rising inflation the main driver. However, despite the volatility in markets, corporate bond markets rallied over the period and outperformed their government bond counterparts.

The elevated inflation levels were reflected in higher energy and food prices, ongoing strong jobs data in the US, and a surprise move by the Bank of Japan in December to loosen its longstanding commitment to yield curve control. Given this inflationary backdrop, central banks raised base rates over the period.

There were instances, however, where inflationary data appeared to weaken, particularly as we moved into 2023 with natural gas prices falling sharply. Markets therefore moved to price-in a peak in rate rises as they looked for further signs of inflation slowing.

Given the extent to which interest rates had already risen it was almost inevitable that some stresses would emerge at some point. These stresses duly arrived in March, when economic fundamentals gave way to fears over the health of the banking system, first in the regional US banking sector, but latterly in Europe where Credit Suisse was "rescued" by UBS, with a little help from the Swiss National Bank.

While this had a negative impact on credit markets initially – and led to a 'flight-to-safety' trade that benefit government bonds - the quick reaction of central banks to alleviate the pressure on the sector helped to calm markets and allowed risk assets to rally into the end of the period.

Strategy

We actively managed interest rate risk over the period, but generally held an elevated level of duration. Conviction in our view that market expectations on the path of interest rates had become too extreme was reflected in the fund having approximately 7.6 years of duration at the beginning of November, versus the index at 6.3 years. We reduced this relative position in stages, and ended the period with a more balanced view on rates, feeling that from here credit risk offers a more attractive avenue to utilize our risk budget, versus relative interest rate risk.

After hawkish messages from central banks and the announcement that the Bank of Japan would loosen its commitment to yield curve control, government bond yields resumed a push higher. Aggregate levels on credit spreads at the beginning of the period were close to levels not seen for over ten years (in the euro and sterling markets, in particular).

We were active in managing credit risk in the period, with much of our focus in the early part on adding in the more attractive relative value of the euro market (and to a lesser extent, in sterling), with the portfolio's credit additions mainly in those markets (and predominantly through the primary market), with the dollar market less favoured as an avenue to add credit risk.

As we moved towards the turn of the year – and reflective of the strength of the recovery we had seen in rates and credit markets since the second half of October – we sought to reduce some of the active risk in the portfolio. This was achieved by reducing the fund's US duration contribution closer to neutral against benchmark, and by trimming some of the portfolio's higher beta credit holdings.

Reflective of the significant rally we had seen in global investment grade spreads (which continued in to 2023), we sought to protect the fund from any retracement (widening) in spreads, and (in addition to the aforementioned higher beta credit trims, including sales of corporate hybrids and subordinated financial names, among these Commerzbank, VW and Easyjet), we took a position in a credit derivative index as a cost-effective means of tactically reducing the fund's overall credit risk. Spreads then widened in February, so this decision to add protection was advantageous. We removed the position in the midst of the banking volatility in quarter one.

On an individual name level, top contributors included long-dated dollar issuance positions Warner Brothers Discovery, railroad Burlington North and pharmaceutical name Amgen. These did well during the rally in credit spreads, a move which we were well positioned to benefit from.

However, on the back of the banking crisis in the US, some of our holdings saw heightened volatility. Whilst the fund had zero exposure to both Credit Suisse and SVB paper, during the crisis in March it was negatively impacted by the broader weakness in (subordinated) financial paper that we saw in response to the heightened market anxiety. Holdings in ING and Commerzbank all came under pressure as a result of those concerns.

The outlook remains constructive for fixed income markets but this view is not without its risks. Inflation appears to have peaked and is currently falling to varying degrees across countries and underlying economic activity is slowing (with risks to the downside). The combination of these factors will likely bring the Central Bank hiking cycle to an end in the coming months.

Aegon High Yield Global Bond Fund – to 30th April 2023

The Aegon High Yield Global Fund returned 7.00% over the six-month period, outperforming the peer group median return of 6.03%.

Inflation and interest rate concerns were still in the spotlight and influenced market movements in the first part of the period. Tentative evidence of a peak in US inflation data in November – combined with dovish outlooks from central banks – saw government bond yields fall substantially. We also saw a strong recovery in global credit markets, with sentiment improving as expectations for rate hikes were reduced. A more hawkish message from the ECB at its December meeting led to fresh concerns on the outlook for global credit spreads.

In January, the focus was on a series of weaker economic data releases - CPI, PMI, Retail Sales etc – and a sharp decline in natural gas. Both government and corporate bonds were supported as a result. While in February we saw a reversal, led by the blow-out US employment report and inflation data on both sides of the Atlantic that showed evidence of a stickiness in prices. This saw terminal rate expectations in the US, UK and Europe, and 10-year yields rising over the month in core rates markets. However in March, Silicon Valley Bank (SVB) collapsed causing concern over other US regional banks. The reverberations from these events were felt in Europe where Credit Suisse was 'rescued' by UBS.

We held an overweight position to B-rated bonds which acted as a tailwind due to our disciplined stock selection within this part of the market, followed by our BBB-rated bonds. CCC-rated bonds did perform well for part of the period, however due to a decompression in the market come March, our overweight position in this area acted as a headwind on a ratings basis.

On a sector basis, our overweight to financials was positive for performance despite the sector suffering in the latter half of the period. This was likely due to our senior bonds in Credit Suisse which did well. Our overweight position in retail also helped returns given solid performance in consumer discretionary in the first few months of the year. However, holding an overweight in healthcare detracted on the back of a style rotation from defensive to cyclical, and the same can be said for our underweight to basic industrials.

Overall, our disciplined stock selection was the main reason for positive returns over the period. Our holding of Credit Suisse senior non-preferred bonds did well as these rallied significantly on news of the UBS deal in March. Although the fund did not hold Credit Suisse AT1 bonds, it was negatively impacted by some of the broader bank holdings. A number of consumer discretionary names ended the period in the top contributors on the back of a rally come the new year. The top contributor was Douglas, but gaming name Lottomatica and retailer B&M were also both notable in this regard. Our lack of positioning in energy name Petroleos Mexicanos and an underweight to Chinese real estate name Country Garden Holdings detracted from performance.

We believe high yield bonds continue to offer attractive carry and long-term total return potential. We are finding interesting investment opportunities in higher-quality bonds and remain focused on high-conviction security selection.

Aegon Absolute Return Bond Fund - 1 Nov 2022 to 30 April 2023

The Aegon Absolute Return Bond Fund returned 2.60% over the six-month period, compared to 1.47% for the SONIA 3-month cash benchmark.

Bond markets endured a rollercoaster ride over the six-month period, with concerns over rising inflation the main driver. However, despite the volatility in markets, corporate bond markets rallied overall and outperformed their government bond counterparts. US Treasuries performed relatively well while German bunds were more subdued. The outlier was the UK government bond market, which struggled over the period and underperformed.

The elevated inflation levels were mainly manifested in higher energy and food prices, ongoing strong jobs data in the US, and a surprise move by the Bank of Japan in December to loosen its longstanding commitment to yield curve control. Given the inflationary backdrop, core central banks subsequently raised base rates over the period.

There were instances, however, where inflationary data appeared to weaken, particularly as we moved into 2023 with natural gas prices falling sharply. Markets therefore moved to price-in a peak in rate rises as they looked for further signs of inflation slowing.

Given the extent to which interest rates had already risen it was almost inevitable that some stresses would emerge at some point. These stresses duly arrived in March, when economic fundamentals gave way to fears over the health of the banking system, first in the regional US banking sector, but latterly in Europe where Credit Suisse was "rescued" by UBS, with a little help from the Swiss National Bank. While this had a negative impact on credit markets initially – and led to a 'flight-to-safety' trade that benefit government bonds - the quick reaction of central banks to alleviate the pressure on the sector helped to calm markets and allowed risk assets to rally into the period-end.

Over the six months the fund's Credit and Carry modules added value while the Rates module detracted from performance.

Within the Credit module a key driver of returns came from our collection of hedged corporate bonds; where we invest in a diversified range of predominately short dated corporate bonds and hold credit and duration risk hedges against them. The generally supportive tone for credit risk – despite the impact of the banking crisis in March - was beneficial as the collection of bonds we held outperformed the market hedges held against them. At times when the market faced rising underlying yields our positions tended to hold-in well due to careful security selection and the attractive "cushion" offered by the elevated credit spread attached to the bonds. With regards to credit protection, this was typically expressed via iTraxx Main and iTraxx Xover.

After a slow start to the period our CDS relative value pair trades and our bond/CDS basis trades began to add value as we approached the end of 2022. Given the rally in credit risk at this point was more pronounced in Europe, we benefited from our long-risk iTraxx Main (EUR IG) versus short-risk CDX IG (USD IG). As we entered 2023 we decided to take profits on the position and subsequently rotated it into a long-risk iTraxx Main versus short-risk iTraxx Senior Financial position following the compression between the two contracts. This new position contributed positively particularly in March when the stresses in the banking sector saw a sharp decompression of the spread and allowed us to book a profit on the position.

Elsewhere, we saw alpha generated from our long-risk Tesco versus short-risk Ahold position, as the UK-based supermarket operator outperformed its Dutch contemporary. We also benefited from being long BP versus a combination of short positions in Equinor and Total. Our long-risk Stellantis versus short-risk Daimler position and also our long-risk iTraxx Xover versus short-risk Renault also added value. The latter trade looked to take advantage of the rich valuations for the French carmaker relative to its fundamental outlook.

Finally, our basis trades were volatile over the period, with a dip in performance towards the end of the period, although they contributed positively overall.

The Rates module was volatile over the period and ultimately detracted from performance. Early in the period our long 10-year US versus short 10-year Germany position added value. The position looked to benefit from the US Federal Reserve reaching its peak in rates before the ECB. Towards the end of 2022 softer-than-expected inflation numbers in the US led to growing expectations of a downshift in the size of future rate hikes from the Federal Reserve, which led to US Treasuries subsequently outperforming.

We also benefited from cross-market trades involving German bonds. For example, early in the period our long 10-year Germany versus short 10-year Italy position did well. Italian bonds had recovered sharply from their spread wides versus Germany but they subsequently looked vulnerable to anything that would imply a continued hawkish stance from the ECB. With further rate hikes expected and the start of the QT program imminent, we saw an underperformance of Italian bonds during the first half of the period, which benefited our trade. We entered 2023 with a long 10-year Australia versus short 5-year Germany position.

After underperforming at the end of 2022, we saw a meaningful recovery in Australian bonds as the government pushed back the restart of its bond supply program until February. This helped support 10-year bonds and longer. To take advantage of the flatness of the curve, we booked profits on this position and switched to being long 3-year Australian futures versus 5-year Germany, which also subsequently added value.

Two yield curve positions detracted, however. Our US curve steepening trade – long 5-year versus short 30-year – moved against us as longer-dated bonds performed well. This trade was in place from the beginning of the period but as the market priced-in an ever-higher peak in rates, the curve continued to flatten and we opted to close it down towards the end of the period. Early in 2023, we also opened a Japanese curve trade – we were long 30-year JGBs and short 10-year Japanese bond futures. While this position initially added some value, the risk-off environment became more supportive for 10-year bonds and futures given the liquidity they offer, and therefore the position detracted from performance overall.

Our cross-market positions involving UK gilts were mixed. While we benefited from some trades early in the period, the firmer than expected inflation data we saw as the period progressed led to the gilt market lagging both the US and European rates moves as further rate hikes were priced in.

The Carry module performed well over the six months. The module invests exclusively in investment-graderated bonds with less than 2 years to final legal maturity. While credit spreads came under some pressure at various points during the period, the high quality and short-dated nature of our holdings meant that any spread widening was more than offset by the fall in underlying yields which we saw over the quarter as a whole.

The outlook remains constructive for fixed income markets but this view is not without its risks. Inflation appears to have peaked and is currently falling to varying degrees across countries and underlying economic activity is slowing (with risks to the downside). The combination of these factors will likely bring the Central Bank hiking cycle to an end in the coming months.

Semi-Annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements for the financial period from 1 November 2022 to 30 April 2023

Aegon Global Equity Income Fund – 1 Nov 2022 to 30 April 2023

The Aegon Global Equity Income Fund returned 15.49% (net of fees) over the period, outperforming the peer group median return of 7.73% (all returns in US dollar terms).

Strategy

Global equities performed well over the six-month period, with the MSCI AC World index up 12.97% in US dollar terms. While the performance of the market was encouraging, there were bouts of volatility linked to inflationary concerns and interest rate expectations. However, investors leaned towards inflation moderating as the period progressed and this supported markets.

In sector terms, all sectors returned positively but many of the areas that worked during the first half of the period (and throughout 2022) notably lost momentum. Energy fared worst and healthcare and financials also failed to keep pace with the wider market. In the case of the latter, financials were impacted by a crisis in the global banking sector in March caused by the collapse of two regional US banks and news that Swiss bank Credit Suisse was also under stress. Swift regulatory action in the US to prevent the situation escalating, coupled with the Swiss government's-sponsored acquisition of Credit Suisse by peer UBS helped a recovery in overall market confidence. In contrast, one of the most prominent themes in the second half of the period was the return to favour of growth stocks, which began to put a tough 2022 behind them. Technology and technology-driven sectors such as communication services enjoyed a sharp recovery and led the market over the period. Regionally, most core markets rallied strongly, with China also adding to the better sentiment following the departure from its 'Zero Covid' policy, which allowed its economy to re-open.

The fund's strong outperformance over the period was driven by stock selection while regional and sector allocation was more mixed. Our exposure to Europe added value, particularly over the first half of the period when it comfortably outperformed its US counterpart. In sector terms, our overweight positioning in technology boosted returns, while our underweight in healthcare was also beneficial. Our large overweight in financials detracted given the above-mentioned concerns around banks, but stock selection was actually positive within the sector.

Focusing on stock selection, a common theme across the portfolio was a range of companies being rewarded by the market for delivering better-than-expected earnings results. The holdings which fit this description and sat amongst the leading contributors to performance over the six months to the end of April included tech names Microsoft and Broadcom; financials Allianz and Ping An Insurance; and industrials Air Products, Schneider Electric and Watsco. Additionally, a majority of our portfolio holdings also increased their dividends over the period.

At the other end of the spectrum, the fund's holding in machinery and construction equipment rental specialist, United Rentals, performed poorly, with the stock's higher beta, cyclical characteristics hindering performance. Albemarle also had a trickier period on looming supply issues in the lithium industry. We exited the stock over April, with it having tripled since we opened our position around five years ago. Elsewhere, Pfizer and Auto Data Processing were impacted by underwhelming trading updates although their defensive credentials clearly exaggerated any underperformance.

In the near-term, we expect to see markets shift their focus onto company fundamentals, rather than a preoccupation with macroeconomic factors such as inflation. Overall, we remain constructive on the backdrop for markets.

Aegon Global Diversified Income Fund – 6-month to 30th April 2023

The Aegon Global Diversified Income Fund returned 6.24% over the period.

Global equities performed well over the six-month period, with the MSCI AC World index up 12.48% in US dollar terms. Corporate bond markets rallied overall and outperformed their government bond counterparts. US Treasuries performed relatively well while German bunds were more subdued. The outlier was the UK government bond market, which struggled over the period and underperformed.

While the performance of markets was encouraging, the period was marked by volatility as elevated inflation and the subsequent rate rises from Central Banks to combat it - continued to cause concern. The higher inflation levels were mainly manifested in higher energy and food prices, ongoing strong jobs data in the US, and a surprise move by the Bank of Japan in December to loosen its longstanding commitment to yield curve control. However, the bias was towards inflation continuing to moderate, particularly in the second half of the period as energy prices began to decline.

Within equities, many of the areas that worked during the first half of the period (and throughout 2022) lost momentum. Energy fared worst, while financials clearly struggled following the stresses seen in the banking sector in March. Other laggard sectors were typically defensive areas such as healthcare. In contrast, one of the most prominent themes in the second half of the period was the return to favour of growth stocks, which began to put a tough 2022 behind them. Technology and the technology-driven sectors such communication services enjoyed a sharp recovery and led the market over the period as a whole.

Regionally, most core markets rallied strongly, with China also adding to the better sentiment following the departure from its 'Zero Covid' policy, which allowed its economy to re-open.

Given the extent to which interest rates had already risen it was almost inevitable that some stresses would emerge at some point. These stresses duly arrived in March, when economic fundamentals gave way to fears over the health of the banking system, first in the regional US banking sector, but latterly in Europe where Credit Suisse was "rescued" by UBS, with a little help from the Swiss National Bank. While this had a negative impact on credit markets initially – and led to a 'flight-to-safety' trade that benefit government bonds - the quick reaction of central banks to alleviate the pressure on the sector helped to calm markets and allowed risk assets to rally into the period-end.

Strategy

The contribution from the different components in the fund were mostly all positive apart from currencies, with equities making the largest contribution overall.

Within the equities portfolio, there was a number of technology names at the top of the contributors on the back of the return to favour that the sector witnessed in the second half of the period. Technology names that ended in the top positions included Microsoft, Broadcom, Schneider electric and Simplo Technology. However, insurer Allianz was the top positive contributor for the fund overall. Financials generally struggled after the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank in the US which negatively influenced market sentiment for the sector, and our holding in Nordea Bank ended up as one the greatest detractors for the fund, although pharmaceutical name Pfizer was the main detractor. Pfizer's annual revenue has grown from $40 billion to $100 billion but a lot of this growth is related to its Covid-19 vaccine. Future earnings are expected to fall significantly and the uncertainty is reflected in the share price volatility.

Within the fixed income allocation, high yield performed the best enjoying a strong period for this market overall, but investment grade and government bonds also contributed positively. One negative contribution of note was due to one Credit Suisse senior bond. We sold the bond at a loss when news broke that Credit Suisse was in financial trouble and before the forced merger with UBS. However, overall bank credit still returned positively, despite the setback in March, although it was weaker in the second half of the period.

Real assets did well, but in particular renewable energy helped the most. European integrated utilities were strong with positive contributions from Endesa, Enel, Iberdrola and SSE. Enel and SSE were among the top contributors for the fund overall. REITs did not fare as well, but still managed to return positively for the period as a whole. This sector was weak for much of 2022 and some of this weakness continued through to the new year.

Going forward, the fund has started to change its allocation mix in favour of bonds over alternatives. With risks to the economic outlook skewed to the downside, we view higher quality fixed income as an attractive asset class. As global economic concerns shift from too much inflation to too little growth/recession then government and other high-quality bonds should be better placed to deliver positive returns and provide attractive diversification benefits in a risk-off environment.

Aegon Global Sustainable Equity Fund

Semi-Annual

The Aegon Global Sustainable Equity Fund returned 0.92% (net of fees) over the six-month period. This did not keep pace with the MSCI AC World Index return of 1.13% (returns in Euro terms).

Global equities performed well over the six-month period. While the performance of the market was encouraging, there were bouts of volatility linked to inflationary concerns and interest rate expectations. However, investors leaned towards inflation moderating as the period progressed and this supported markets.

In sector terms, all sectors returned positively but many of the areas that worked during the first half of the period (and throughout 2022) notably lost momentum. Energy fared worst and healthcare and financials also failed to keep pace with the wider market. In the case of the latter, financials were impacted by a crisis in the global banking sector in March caused by the collapse of two regional US banks and news that Swiss bank Credit Suisse was also under stress. Swift regulatory action in the US to prevent the situation escalating, coupled with the Swiss government's-sponsored acquisition of Credit Suisse by peer UBS helped a recovery in overall market confidence. In contrast, one of the most prominent themes in the second half of the period was the return to favour of growth stocks, which began to put a tough 2022 behind them. Technology and technology-driven sectors such as communication services enjoyed a sharp recovery and led the market over the period. Regionally, most core markets rallied strongly, with China also adding to the better sentiment following the departure from its 'Zero Covid' policy, which allowed its economy to re-open.

Asset allocation was slightly positive over the period, whereas stock selection was negative.

Despite stock selection being negative overall, there were a number of strong contributors at the individual name level. Most prominent amongst these was NVIDIA, which delivered excellent results and an optimistic outlook based around its data centre and gaming platforms. The company has also been a beneficiary of the focus on the rapidly developing AI environment in recent months, a space in which it has a substantial competitive moat. US healthcare company Abiomed, which makes the world's smallest heart pump, was acquired by Johnson & Johnson in a $17 billion deal over the period, which worked out as a 50% premium to the share price immediately before the announcement.

The company ended the period among the top positive contributors. Amplifon was also worthy of mention. Shares climbed on the back of financial results in the latter part of the period. Full year 2022 numbers were broadly in line, if not a touch lighter than expectations but it appeared that the market took heart from management's comments that January and February of this year had started well and that price rises would begin to take effect from March, helping the picture even further.

First Republic Bank was the main detractor The bank was caught up in the fallout from the Silicon Valley Bank ('SVB') failure. Investors quickly drew parallels between the two banks given the similarities in regional focus, high net worth client base and risk of deposit flight. Whilst there were key differences between the two banks, we acted decisively to exit our position immediately after the SVB news broke. This was not enough to prevent an impact on performance but our swift action ensured it was not more severe, as the shares then went on to register precipitous further falls following our sale.

A number of industrial names also pulled back over the period such as Alfen, Advanced Drainage Systems and Plug Power. We exited our position in Plug Power halfway through the period. We first invested in the stock around four years ago and it now trades at multiples of the price at which we first bought it. However, we have concerns over the current rate of cash burn as the company expands at pace and are conscious that the current environment is an unforgiving one for companies that require capital.

In the near-term, we expect to see markets shift their focus onto company fundamentals, rather than a preoccupation with macroeconomic factors such as inflation. Overall, we remain constructive on the backdrop for markets.

The Aegon Global Sustainable Diversified Growth Fund returned 1.10% over the period, underperforming the benchmark return of 2.58%.

Strategy

Global equities performed well over the six-month period, with the MSCI AC World index up 12.48% in US dollar terms. Corporate bond markets rallied overall and outperformed their government bond counterparts. US Treasuries performed relatively well while German bunds were more subdued. Regionally, most core markets rallied strongly, with China also adding to the better sentiment following the departure from its 'Zero Covid' policy, which allowed its economy to re-open.

These stresses duly arrived in March, when economic fundamentals gave way to fears over the health of the banking system, first in the regional US banking sector, but latterly in Europe where Credit Suisse was "rescued" by UBS, with a little help from the Swiss National Bank. While this had a negative impact on credit markets initially – and led to a 'flight-to-safety' trade that benefit government bonds - the quick reaction of central banks to alleviate the pressure on the sector helped to calm markets and allowed risk assets to rally into the period-end.

Over the period, the fund benefited from its exposure to alternatives, and particularly to renewables and infrastructure. Among the standout performers were SSE, National Grid and Greencoat UK Wind. While our exposure to REITs also added some value early in the period, we subsequently reduced our exposure and exited the remaining names during the second half of the period. With banks tightening lending standards, which was exacerbated by the banking sector turmoil in March, we believed our decision to exit the sector was correct, given that real estate markets would likely be further challenged by less availability of credit. Over the period as a whole, our exposure to REITs detracted only slightly.

The physical equity allocation (composed of income, growth, and healthcare stocks) delivered a positive return. One area that performed particularly well was equity income, which again outperformed its growth counterpart in the final few months of 2022. As we moved through the first half of 2023, however, we saw a reversal of this trend, with growth outperforming. The rally in growth stocks was mainly driven by the belief that inflation concerns were moderating, while corporate earnings results were generally better than expected. Nevertheless, we believed the equity market strength at the start of 2023 was overdone, and towards the end of January we hedged part of the equity exposure. Despite protecting the fund during the March market sell-off, which was in response to the banking sector troubles, equities finished the period strongly. Our hedges therefore partially detracted, although the gains made by our physical holdings helped our equity allocation to added value over the period as a whole.

Within fixed income, our exposure to investment grade and government bonds added value. In particular, our exposure to UK index-linked bonds contributed positively. Early in the period, UK index-linked gilts were weak as the Bank of England reduced its UK index-linked gilt holdings which put pressure on the price of these bonds. We took the opportunity to add to our holdings of these assets at attractive levels, which was beneficial over the remainder of the period, given the Bank of England subsequently announced that it had fully exited these positions, bringing an end to its selling pressure. The other allocation that performed over the well over the period, despite bouts of volatility, was US Treasuries. Our exposure to investment grade bonds also contributed to overall absolute returns, again despite volatility. In contrast, our small weighting in high yield detracted.

The main detractor over the period was our currency exposure, which favoured defensive currencies such as the US dollar and Japanese yen, over more economically sensitive currencies.

With risks to the economic outlook skewed to the downside, we view higher quality fixed income as an attractive asset class. As global economic concerns shift from too much inflation to too little growth/recession then government and other high-quality bonds should be better placed to deliver positive returns and provide attractive diversification benefits in a risk-off environment.

Aegon Global Equity Market Neutral Fund – 6-months to 30th April 2023

The Aegon Global Equity Market Neutral Fund returned 0.28% (net of fees) over the period, underperforming the SONIA 1-month return of 1.63%.

Global equities performed well over the six-month period, with the MSCI AC World index up 12.48% in US dollar terms. While the performance of the market was encouraging, the period was marked by volatility as elevated inflation - and the subsequent rate rises from Central Banks to combat it - continued to cause concern. Regionally, most core markets rallied strongly, with China also adding to the better sentiment following the departure from its 'Zero Covid' policy, which allowed its economy to re-open.

NVIDIA was the leading contributor in the long book over the period. The company delivered excellent results in the second half of the period, and an optimistic outlook based around its data centre and gaming platforms. The company has also been a beneficiary of the focus on the rapidly developing AI environment in recent months, a space in which it has a substantial competitive moat.

Nemetschek (construction software) was another strong contributor. The stock benefitted from excellent, consensus beating, results in both its quarter four 2022 and quarter one 2023 fiscal reporting periods. In terms of highlights, performance has been underpinned by strong year-on-year growth in the company's design segment, whilst effective cost control across operations have boosted margins too. Management also shared a very encouraging medium-term outlook for the business during the period, with the company forecasting double digit revenue growth in FY 2024 and FY 2025, exceeding analyst expectations. Elsewhere, Amplifon and Schneider Electric also added value.

First Republic Bank was the main detractor in the long book. The holding was caught up in the fallout from the Silicon Valley Bank ('SVB') failure as investors quickly drew parallels between the two banks given the similarities in regional focus, high net worth client base and risk of deposit flight. Whilst there were key differences between the two banks, we acted decisively to exit our position immediately after the SVB news broke. This was not enough to prevent an impact on performance, but our swift action ensured it was not more severe, as the shares then went on to register precipitous further falls following our sale.

Other detractors in the long book's included Plug Power; the hydrogen solutions company de-rated as a result of management downgrading its full-year revenue guidance. The revenue impact reflected some larger projects potentially being completed in 2023 instead of 2022 due to broader supply chain issues. We sold down the position over March. The stock has been a long-term holding in the fund and now trades at multiples of the price at which we first bought it. However, we have concerns over the current rate of cash burn as the company expands at pace and are conscious that the current environment is an unforgiving one for companies that require capital. Kornit Digital (digital textile printing) also fell over the period, with the company's somewhat underwhelming fiscal third-quarter 2022 results contributing to a lukewarm reaction from the market. 2022 was a difficult year for the company, as its previously high level of growth has been halted by the slowing environment for e-commerce related businesses. That said, the quarter three numbers suggested there had been a stabilisation in trends and provided optimism that the company may be able to resume its growth path, albeit from a rebased level.

Moving to the short book, we saw good returns from our shorts in an egg production business, where a broker downgrade contributed to a fall in the share price and a Japanese home entertainment products manufacturer, which suffered from a weak quarterly update and lower forward guidance. Our short in a digital consultancy services company also added value. In contrast, a multi-national auto maker was among the largest detractors in the short book, after rallying on the back of better-than-expected quarterly results.

In the near-term, we expect to see markets shift their focus onto company fundamentals, rather than a preoccupation with macroeconomic factors such as inflation. Overall, we remain constructive on the backdrop for markets.

Aegon Short Dated High Yield Global Bond Fund – 1 Nov 2022 to 30 April 2023

The Aegon Short-Dated High Yield Bond Fund returned 6.42% over the six-month period.

Strategy

Bond markets endured a rollercoaster ride over the six-month period, with concerns over rising inflation the main driver. However, despite the volatility in markets, corporate bond markets rallied over the period and outperformed their government bond counterparts. High yield bonds were among the stronger performers, with the Bloomberg Global High Yield index increasing by 7.42% in US dollar terms. Within that return, short-dated high yield bonds also posted a robust performance, with the Barclays Global HY Corporate 1-5yr Ba/B index rising 6.56%.

The elevated inflation levels were mainly manifested in higher energy and food prices, ongoing strong jobs data in the US, and a surprise move by the Bank of Japan in December to loosen its longstanding commitment to yield curve control. Given the inflationary backdrop, core central banks subsequently raised base rates over the period.

There were instances, however, where inflationary data appeared to weaken, particularly as we moved into 2023 with natural gas prices falling sharply. Markets therefore moved to price-in a peak in rate rises as they looked for further signs of inflation slowing.

Given the extent to which interest rates had already risen it was almost inevitable that some stresses would emerge at some point. These stresses duly arrived in March, when economic fundamentals gave way to fears over the health of the banking system, first in the regional US banking sector, but latterly in Europe where Credit Suisse was "rescued" by UBS, with a little help from the Swiss National Bank. While this had a negative impact on credit markets initially – and led to a 'flight-to-safety' trade that benefit government bonds - the quick reaction of central banks to alleviate the pressure on the sector helped to calm markets and allowed risk assets to rally into the end of the period.

Throughout the period, we continued to focus on bottom-up issue selection and lending to credits which have strong balance sheets, plenty of liquidity, high barriers to entry and strong, free cash generation. The fund's remit of lending to companies for short periods of time helped to limit volatility, protect on the downside and provide attractive carry, with the additional benefit of the 'pull-to-par' as bonds approached their maturity date. Our disciplined approach to implementing this strategy was beneficial over a period when high yield assets generally rallied, but also helped to protect the fund during those periods when markets came under pressure.

In terms of allocation, we limited our exposure to short-dated CCC-rated assets and focused our attention mainly on short-dated single-B and BB-rated bonds. Disciplined stock selection was the main driver of the positive returns over the period. Among the best performers were NH Hotel (a Spanish multinational hotel group), IHS Holding (one of the largest telecommunications infrastructure companies in Africa, Latin America and the Middle East) and David Lloyds (a UK-based premium gym operator). The main detractors were Country Garden Holdings and cruise company Carnival, neither of which we own.

We retain our cautious approach, which is manifested in disciplined, bottom-up credit selection, and continue to focus on the balance sheets and cashflows of our companies, and their ability to refinance debt.

We believe high yield bonds continue to offer attractive carry and long-term total return potential. We are finding interesting investment opportunities in higher-quality bonds and remain focused on high-conviction security selection.

Aegon Global Short Dated Climate Transition Fund – 1 Nov 2022 to 30 April 2023

The Aegon Global Short-Dated Climate Transition Fund returned 2.49% over the six-month period, compared to a benchmark return of 1.77%.

Strategy

Bond markets endured a rollercoaster ride over the six-month period, with concerns over rising inflation the main driver. However, despite the volatility, corporate bond markets rallied over the period and outperformed their government bond counterparts. US Treasuries performed relatively well while German bunds were more subdued. The outlier was the UK government bond market, which struggled over the period and underperformed.

Given the extent to which interest rates had already risen it was almost inevitable that some stresses would emerge at some point. These stresses duly arrived in March, when economic fundamentals gave way to fears over the health of the banking system, first in the regional US banking sector, but latterly in Europe where Credit Suisse was "rescued" by UBS, with a little help from the Swiss National Bank. While this had a negative impact on credit markets initially – and led to a 'flight-to-safety' trade that benefit government bonds - the quick reaction of central banks to alleviate the pressure on the sector helped to calm markets and allowed risk assets to rally into the end of the period.

Throughout the period we continued to focus on our strategy of avoiding default risk and favouring companies with clearly visible credit profiles over the short-to-medium term. A major consideration in terms of the companies we chose to invest in was their ability to refinance upcoming maturities. This strategy worked well for the fund, with discipline stock selection the key driver of the fund's relative outperformance.

Prior to the start of the period, we increased the fund's duration level to around 2.1 years, which we held in place up to the end of 2022. We did this through adding duration in the US dollar market, where we believed pricing levels reflected the US being very close to the top of its interest rate cycle. Yields on short-dated investment grade bonds subsequently moved lower over the remainder of 2022, driven by falling government bond yields (especially in the US) and by tightening credit spreads.

We continued to increase duration throughout the second half of the period. While inflation remained well above target, we expected it to start to decline as we moved through 2023, and therefore regarded interest rate risk as more attractive in Europe and the UK versus the US. We therefore added duration primarily through the European interest rate market, where we thought the market's expectation at that time for the ECB to take rates to 3.5%-4% in the summer might be too aggressive. Overall, our duration position, while volatile, added value over the period.

In terms of stock selection, the fund's exposure to financial bonds performed well. Early in the period we took advantage of a rare opportunity to participate in new, US dollar-denominated senior bond issuance from high quality borrowers such as HSBC and Barclays with very attractive coupons. Positions in bonds from Intesa Sanpaolo, Nationwide Building Society, Zurich Insurance Group, ABN AMRO and Deutsche Bank also all performed well on an absolute and relative basis. Elsewhere, our exposure to IBM and Dell also contributed positively.

There were only very limited pockets of weakness, most notably in the real estate sector where the small holding in bonds from Aroundtown performed poorly following the company's decision not to redeem one of its hybrid bonds at the first opportunity. The position in bonds from UK real estate company, Canary Wharf, also suffered following Moody's decision to downgrade the credit rating of the issuer from Baa3 to Ba1.

Throughout the period, the fund's overall exposure to credit risk was broadly unchanged over the quarter, with the average credit rating remaining at A-.

The outlook remains constructive for fixed income markets but this view is not without its risks. Inflation appears to have peaked and is currently falling to varying degrees across countries and underlying economic activity is slowing (with risks to the downside). The combination of these factors will likely bring the Central Bank hiking cycle to an end in the coming months.

Semi-Annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements for the financial period from 1 November 2022 to 30 April 2023

Notes to the Financial Statements

1. Significant Accounting Policies

a) Statement of Compliance

This Semi-annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard 104 "semi-annual Financial Reporting" ("FRS 104") and with the Companies Act 2014, as amended (the "Companies Act 2014"), the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2011, as amended ("the UCITS Regulations") and the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (Section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2019, (the "Central Bank UCITS Regulations").

The Semi-annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements should be read in conjunction with the Annual Financial Statements for the year ended 31 October 2022, which have been prepared in accordance with accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland. Accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland are those published by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland and issued by the Financial Reporting Council ("FRC"). The accounting policies and methods of computation followed in the most recent Annual Financial Statements have been used in the preparation of these Semi-annual Financial Statements.

The format and certain wordings of the financial statements have been adapted from those contained in the FRS 104 and the Companies Act 2014 so that, in the opinion of the Directors, they more appropriately reflect the nature of the Company's business as an investment fund.

The Company has availed of the exemption available to open-ended investment Funds under FRS 102 (Section 7.1A(c)) not to present a cash flow statement.

b) Basis of Accounting and Presentation of Financial Statements

The financial statements are measured and presented in the currency of the primary economic environment in which each Fund operates. These are the United States Dollar ("USD"), Euro ("EUR") and Pound Sterling ("GBP") reflecting the fact that the Funds' operations are conducted in USD, EUR and GBP.

The financial statements are prepared on a fair value basis for the financial assets and financial liabilities through profit or loss. The financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis as the Directors are of the view that the Company can continue in operational existence for twelve months from the date of approval of these financial statements. The Directors anticipate the financial assets will continue to generate enough cash flows on an ongoing basis to meet the Company's liabilities as they fall due.

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of policies and reported accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and various other factors that are believed to be reasonable. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the periods of revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods. Actual results could differ from estimates.

In the opinion of the Directors, the semi-annual report contains all significant information required to enable the shareholders and potential investors to make an informed appraisal of the financial position of the Funds for the period, and comparative period, to which it relates.

Semi-Annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements for the financial period from 1 November 2022 to 30 April 2023

2. Fair Value Estimation

The Company under FRS 102 is required to classify fair value measurements for Funds using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements.

FRS 102 requires the Funds to classify fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 The unadjusted quoted price in an active market for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date.
- Level 2 Inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable (i.e. developed using market data) for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3 Inputs are unobservable (i.e. for which market data is unavailable) for the asset or liability.

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measurement is a Level 3 measurement. Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement and consideration of factors specific to the asset or liability.

The following tables present the fair value hierarchy of each Fund's financial assets and liabilities measured at 30 April 2023 and 31 October 2022:

Semi-Annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements for the financial period from 1 November 2022 to 30 April 2023

3. Derivative Contracts and Efficient Portfolio Management

Typically, derivative contracts serve as components of the Company's investment strategy and are utilised primarily to structure and economically hedge investments to enhance performance and reduce risk to the Company (the Company does not designate any derivatives as hedges for hedge accounting purposes as described under IAS 39).

The Company may also enter into derivative contracts for the purposes of efficient portfolio management. Efficient portfolio management means investment decisions involving transactions that are entered into for one or more of the following specific aims the reduction of risk; the reduction of cost; or the generation of additional capital or income for the Funds with an appropriate level of risk, taking into account the risk profile of the Funds. Permitted efficient portfolio management transactions are transactions in derivative contracts dealt in or traded on regulated markets operating regularly or over-the-counter arrangements with highly rated financial institutions specializing in this type of transactions.

During the financial period contracts for difference ("CFD"), forward currency contracts, futures and swap contracts were entered into for the purpose of efficient portfolio management in order to hedge currency and market exposure and/or for investment purposes. Details of all open transactions and counterparties to these derivative positions at the financial period end are disclosed in the Portfolio of Investments. Please refer to Note 16 for details of collateral received by the Company to reduce the counterparty exposure. Any gains or losses arising from efficient portfolio management techniques and investments are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income. Please refer to Global Derivative Exposure in Note 16 for details of global exposure related to efficient portfolio management techniques.

The Company did not engage in any efficient portfolio management techniques of repurchase, reverse repurchase and stock lending arrangements.

Contracts for Difference ("CFD")

CFD involve a contract between two counterparties ("buyer" and "seller") which requires that the seller will pay to the buyer the difference between the current value of an asset and its value at a particular contract time. (If the difference is negative, then the buyer pays instead to the seller.) CFD allow traders to take advantage of prices moving up or prices moving down on underlying financial instruments and are often used to speculate on markets. CFD are typically traded "over-the-counter", which means that they are traded "off-exchange". CFD are traded on margin, and the leveraging effect of this increases the risk significantly. The Company will invest in CFD to gain exposure to equity investments and equity market.

The difference between the initial recognition amount and the market value of the open contract is recorded as unrealised gains or losses in the Statement of Financial Position. Realised gains or losses are recognised on the closing or trade date of the contract and are recorded as net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Forward Currency Contracts

A forward currency contract involves an obligation to purchase or sell a specific currency at a future date, at a price set at the time the contract is made. Forward currency contracts are valued by reference to a forward price at which a new forward contract of the same size and maturity could be undertaken at the valuation date. The unrealised gain or loss on open forward contracts is calculated as the difference between the contract rate and this forward price and is taken to the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Futures Contracts

A futures contract is an agreement between two parties to buy and sell a security, index or currency at a specific price or rate at a future date. Upon entering into a futures contract, the Company is required to deposit with a broker an amount of cash or cash equivalents equal to a certain percentage of the contract amount. This is known as 'initial cash margin'. Subsequent payments ('variation margin') are made or received by the Funds each day, depending upon the daily fluctuation in the value of the contract. The daily changes in contract value are recorded as unrealised gains or losses and the Funds recognise a realised gain or loss when the contract is closed. Unrealised and realised gains and losses on futures contracts are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Swaps

A standard swap is an agreement between two counterparties in which the cash flows from two assets are exchanged as they are received for a fixed time period, with the terms initially set so that the present value of the swap is zero. Interest rate swaps involve the exchange by a Fund with another party of their respective commitments to make or receive interest payments (e.g. an exchange of fixed rate payments for floating rate payments). On each payment date under an interest rate swap, the net payments owed by each party, and only the net amount, is paid by one party to the other.

Currency swaps are agreements between two parties to exchange future payments in one currency for payments in another currency. These agreements are used to transform the currency denomination of assets and liabilities.

Credit default swaps are transactions under which the parties' obligations depend on whether a credit event has occurred in relation to the reference asset. The credit events are specified in the contract and are intended to identify the occurrence of a significant deterioration in the creditworthiness of the reference asset. On settlement, credit default products may be cash settled or involve the physical delivery of an obligation of the reference entity following a default. The buyer in a credit default swap contract is obligated to pay the seller a periodic stream of payments over the term of the contract provided that no event of default on an underlying reference asset has occurred. If a credit event occurs, the seller must pay the buyer the full notional value of the reference asset that may have little or no value.

Inflation-linked swaps are agreements between two parties whereby one party pays a fixed rate on a notional principal amount, while the other party pays a floating rate linked to prevailing inflation measurement indices such as Retail Price Index (RPI).

Unrealised and realised gains and losses on swap contracts are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income. Any swap related income/expenses are recognised in net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

4. Share Capital

The authorised share capital of the Company is 1,000,000,000,000 shares of no par value initially designated as unclassified shares; the issued share capital of the Company is €2 represented by 2 shares (the 'subscriber shares') issued for the purposes of the incorporation of the Company at an issue price of €1 per share which are fully paid up and which are held by Aegon Asset Management UK Plc and Aegon Asset Management UK Limited. The unclassified shares are available for issue as Redeemable Participating Shares.

Voting Rights

Subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any class or classes of Redeemable Participating Shares, on a show of hands every holder who is present in person or by proxy shall have one vote and the holder(s) of subscriber shares present in person or by proxy shall have one vote in respect of all the subscriber shares in issue and on a poll, every holder present in person or by proxy shall have one vote for every Redeemable Participating Share of which he is the holder and every holder of a subscriber share present in person or by proxy shall have one vote in respect of his holding of subscriber shares. Holders who hold a fraction of a Redeemable Participating Share may not exercise any voting rights, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, in respect of such fraction of a Redeemable Participating Share.

Redeemable Participating Shares

The net assets attributable to holders of Redeemable Participating Shares are at all times equal to the Net Asset Value of the Company. The participating shares which comprise the equity capital of the Company are in substance a liability of the Company to shareholders under the terms of FRS 102 as they can be redeemed at the option of the shareholder.

Participating shares may be redeemed on each dealing date or such other date or dates as the Board of Directors shall from time to time determine (Valuation Day) at the Net Asset Value per share.

Equalisation

The Company will operate grouping for equalisation with respect to Income shares (shares which are entitled to a portion of the Funds ordinary income). Each income class of each Fund will operate its own equalisation account. Shares purchased during a distribution period are called Group 2 Shares. Shares purchased during any previous distribution period are called Group 1 Shares. Group 2 Shares contain in their purchase price an amount called equalisation which represents a proportion of the net income of the Fund that has accrued up to the date of purchase. The amount of equalisation is averaged across all the Shareholders of Group 2 Shares and is refunded to them as part of their first distribution.

The movement in the number of participating shares per share class during the financial period ended 30 April 2023 is as follows:

12. Risks Associated with Financial Instruments

Risk is inherent in the activities of each Fund but it is managed through a process of ongoing identification, measurement and monitoring, subject to risks limits and other controls. The Funds are exposed to market risk (which includes currency risk, interest rate risk and market price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk arising from the financial instruments it holds.

The main risks arising from financial instruments and the policies for managing these risks are stated below. These policies have been applied throughout the period under review.

Market Price Risk

The main risk arising from each Fund's financial instruments is market price. Market price risk is the risk that the value of the Funds' investments will fluctuate as a result of changes in market price caused by factors other than interest rate or foreign currency movements. Market price risk arises mainly from uncertainty about future prices of financial instruments that the Fund might hold. It represents the potential loss the Funds might suffer through holding market positions in the face of price movements. The Funds' investment portfolios are exposed to market price fluctuations, which are monitored by the Investment Manager in pursuance of the stated investment objectives, and policies as set out in the Prospectus. In addition, the Funds are also exposed to unfavourable market price changes of the underlying financial instruments in case of contracts for difference. The Funds may incur a significant loss if the value of the underlying instruments falls below the value of a particular contract.

Adherence to the investment guidelines and to investment and borrowing powers set out in the instrument of incorporation, the Prospectus and UCITS regulations issued by the Central Bank mitigates the risk of excessive exposure per industry to any particular type of security or issuer.

Foreign Currency Risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the value of the Funds' investments will fluctuate as a result of changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

For the Funds where an element of the investment portfolio is denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Fund, the Statement of Financial Position can be affected by movements in exchange rates. The Investment Manager may seek to manage exposure to currency movements by using forward foreign currency contracts or by hedging the Fund currency value of investments that are priced in other currencies. Income received in other currencies is converted to Fund currency on or near the date of receipt.

Interest Rate Risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the value of the Funds' investments will fluctuate as a result of changes in interest rates.

All of the Funds, except the Global Sustainable Equity Fund, the Global Equity Income Fund and the Global Equity Market Neutral Fund invest in fixed interest securities. The income from these Funds may be affected by changes to interest rates relevant to particular securities or as a result of the Directors being unable to secure similar returns on the expiry of contracts or sale of securities. The value of fixed interest securities may be affected by such movements in the future. Interest receivable on bank deposits and payable on bank overdrafts will be affected by fluctuations in interest rates, as will Floating Rate Bonds. All other assets and liabilities of the Funds are non-interest bearing.

The Funds will adjust their exposure to interest rate risk according to their views on how rates will move in the future. This may mean that at times the Funds may take on more or less risk depending on the view of the Investment Manager.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is defined as the risk that the Company may not be able to settle or meet its obligations on time or at a reasonable price. The Company is exposed to daily cash redemptions of Redeemable Participating Shares. Redeemable Participating Shares are redeemed on demand at the holder's option based on the Company's net assets value per share at the time of redemption. The Redeemable Participating Shares are carried at the redemption amount that is payable at the reporting date if the holder exercises the right to put the share back to the Company. The assets of the Company are considered to be readily realisable. Assets from a Fund may need to be sold if insufficient cash is available to finance redemptions.

The Company manages its liquidity risk by investing primarily in marketable securities.

The Company may repurchase some proportion or all shares held by a shareholder at the Repurchase Price on the relevant Dealing Day, subject to the following exceptions:

- (a) Where the total of repurchase requests on any Dealing Day exceeds 10% of the Net Asset Value of shares of any Fund in issue at the Valuation Point, the Company may scale down pro rata the number of shares to be repurchased in response to each request to ensure that the 10% limit is not exceeded. Any unfulfilled balance of repurchase requests will be carried forward to the next Dealing Day and so on thereafter until each request has been dealt with in full. Requests for repurchase that have been carried forward from an earlier Dealing Day will be dealt with in priority to later requests.
- (b) If in respect of any single repurchase, monies amount to more than 5% of the Net Asset Value of the Fund at the Valuation Point for the Dealing Day, the Company has the power to divide in specie all or any part of the Assets of the relevant Fund, and has the right to elect by notice in writing to the investor to appropriate and transfer Assets to him in full or part satisfaction of the Repurchase Price.

Credit Risk

Certain transactions in securities that the Funds enter into expose them to the risk that the counterparty will not deliver the investment for a purchase, or cash for a sale after the Funds have fulfilled their responsibility. The Funds only buy and sell investments through brokers, which have been approved by the Directors as an acceptable counterparty. In addition, limits are set to the exposure to any individual broker that may exist at any time and changes to brokers' financial ratings are reviewed.

The Board of Directors have noted the developments in the Ukraine. Governments continue to impose sanctions on Russia. Given the absence of exposure in the region, the Board of Directors' view is that those developments and sanctions are unlikely to have a significant direct adverse impact on the Company. Nonetheless, the situation continues to evolve, and it remains difficult at this stage to estimate all direct and indirect impacts which may arise from these developments. The performance of the Company could be impacted by general macroeconomic factors such as the continuation of the Russia-Ukraine war. We are in a period of high inflation, high interest rates, supply change demands and market volatility, factors that have the ability to impact on the value of investments directly and/or indirectly. The Board of Directors continues to monitor the developments closely and to take all the necessary actions.

There have been no other significant events since the financial period end.

15. Events after the Statement of Financial Position date

Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation & Taxonomy Regulation

Article 6

Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (article 6 in table below)

This Fund integrates sustainability risks but does not promote ESG characteristics or has a sustainable investment objective according to the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR).

EU Taxonomy (in general part)

Investors should note, with respect to each Fund other than those Funds categorised as falling within the scope of Article 8 of SFDR, that the investments underlying the Fund do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Article 8

Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (article 8 in table below)

This Fund promotes ESG characteristics as stated in the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SDFR). The Manager can confirm that the environmental and social characteristics as stated in the fund documentation have been implemented and have been complied with.

EU Taxonomy Regulation (in general part)

The Taxonomy Regulation establishes criteria for determining whether an economic activity qualifies as environmentally sustainable in the context of particular environmental objectives. As at the date hereof, the only such objectives are climate change mitigation and adaptation (the "Climate Objectives").

The Taxonomy Regulation also requires disclosure regarding how and to what extent the investments of each Fund are in economic activities that qualify as environmentally sustainable pursuant to those criteria (i.e., Taxonomy-aligned investments).

Funds subject to the disclosure requirements of Article 8 of the SFDR

For each of the Funds categorised as falling within the scope of Article 8 of SFDR, the investment policy, as set out in the relevant Supplement, describes how the relevant Fund promotes ESG characteristics through, amongst other things, consideration of a wide range of environmental characteristics, including the Climate Objectives.

In order for an investment to qualify as environmentally sustainable as at the date hereof, it must meet a number of different criteria, including that it contributes substantially to a Climate Objective, as measured according to the technical screening criteria set out in the Taxonomy Regulation, and that it must not significantly harm any of the environmental objectives set out in the Taxonomy Regulation.

The relevant Funds seek to promote environmental characteristics, however do not make any assessment of whether its investments are Taxonomy-aligned; as such, the relevant Funds will invest 0% of their respective Net Asset Value in Taxonomy-aligned investments, unless otherwise disclosed in the relevant Supplement.

The "do no significant harm" principle referred to above applies only to those investments underlying the relevant Fund that take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of the Relevant Fund do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Semi-Annual Report and Unaudited Financial Statements for the financial period from 1 November 2022 to 30 April 2023

The Manager is keeping this situation under active review and where sufficient reliable, timely and verifiable data on the investment becomes available, it will re-evaluate its approach to the EU Taxonomy Regulation and relevant documentation will be updated.

Supplementary Information

Cybersecurity Risk

Cybersecurity breaches may occur allowing an unauthorized party to gain access to assets of the Funds, Shareholder data, or proprietary information, or may cause the Platform, the Investment Manager, the Distributor, the Administrator or the Depositary to suffer data corruption or lose operational functionality.

The Funds may be affected by intentional cybersecurity breaches which include unauthorized access to systems, networks, or devices (such as through "hacking" activity); infection from computer viruses or other malicious software code; and attacks that shut down, disable, slow, or otherwise disrupt operations, business processes, or website access or functionality. In addition, unintentional incidents can occur, such as the inadvertent release of confidential information (possibly resulting in the violation of applicable privacy laws).

A cybersecurity breach could result in the loss or theft of Shareholder data or funds, the inability to access electronic systems, loss or theft of proprietary information or corporate data, physical damage to a computer or network system, or costs associated with system repairs.

Such incidents could cause the Company, the Investment Manager, the Distributor, the Administrator, the Depositary, or other service providers to incur regulatory penalties, reputational damage, additional compliance costs, or financial loss. Consequently, Shareholders may lose some or all of their invested capital. In addition, such incidents could affect issuers in which the Funds invests, and thereby cause a Fund's investments to lose value, as a result of which investors, including the relevant Funds and its Shareholders, could potentially lose all or a portion of their investment with that issuer.

CRS Data Protection Information Notice

The Funds hereby provides the following data protection information notice to all shareholders in the Funds either as at 31 December 2015 or at any point of time since this date.

For the avoidance of doubt, this notice applies equally to any shareholders that have ceased to hold shares in the Funds since January 1, 2016. Furthermore, it should be noted that this notice may be applicable to Controlling Persons of certain shareholders.

The Funds hereby confirm that they intend to take such steps as may be required to satisfy any obligations imposed by (i) the OECD's Standard for Automatic Exchange of Financial Account Information in Tax Matters ("the Standard"), which therein contains the Common Reporting Standard ("CRS"), as applied in Ireland by means of the relevant international legal framework and Irish tax legislation and (ii) EU Council Directive 2014/107/EU, amending Directive 2011/16/EU as regards mandatory automatic exchange information in the field of taxation ("DAC2"), as applied in Ireland by means of the relevant Irish tax legislation, so as to ensure compliance or deemed compliance (as the case may be) with the Standard/CRS and the DAC2 from 1 January 2016.

In this regard, the Manager on behalf of the Funds is obliged under Section 891F and Section 891G of the Irish Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997 (as amended) and regulations made pursuant to those sections to collect certain information about each shareholder's tax arrangements (and also collect information in relation to relevant Controlling Persons of specific shareholders).

In certain circumstances, the Manager on behalf of the Funds may be legally obliged to share this information and other financial information with respect to a shareholder's interests in the Funds with the Irish Revenue Commissioners (and, in particular situations, also share information in relation to relevant Controlling Persons of specific shareholders). In turn, and to the extent the account has been identified as a Reportable Account, the Irish Revenue Commissioners will exchange this information with the country of residence of the Reportable Person(s) in respect of that Reportable Account.

In particular, information that may be reported in respect of a shareholders (and relevant Controlling Persons, if applicable) includes name, address, date of birth, place of birth, account number, account balance or value at year end (or, if the account was closed during such year, the balance or value at the date of closure of the account), any payments (including redemption and dividend/interest payments) made with respect to the account during the calendar year, tax residency(ies) and tax identification number(s).

Custody and Title Risk Statement

The Depositary is under a duty to hold in custody all financial instruments that may be registered in a financial instruments account opened in the depositary's books and all financial instruments that can be physically delivered to the depositary. The Depositary is required to ensure that all financial instruments that can be registered in a financial instruments account opened in the depositary's books are registered in the depositary's books within segregated accounts. For other assets, the Depositary shall verify the Company's ownership of such assets. The Depositary will maintain a record of the financial instruments entrusted to it and those assets for which it is satisfied that the Company holds the ownership. When the Depositary employs a sub-custodian the Depositary retains responsibility for the assets of the Fund.

However, it should be noted that not all jurisdictions have the same rules and regulations as Ireland regarding the custody of assets and the recognition of the interests of a beneficial owner such as a Fund. Therefore, in such jurisdictions, there is a risk that if a sub-custodian becomes bankrupt or insolvent, the Fund's beneficial ownership of the assets held by such sub-custodian may not be recognised and consequently the creditors of the sub-custodian may seek to have recourse to the assets of the Fund. In those jurisdictions where the Fund's beneficial ownership of its assets is ultimately recognised, the Fund may suffer delay and cost in recovering those assets.

The Fund may invest in markets where custodial and/or settlement systems are not fully developed, therefore the assets of a Fund which are traded in such markets and which have been entrusted to subcustodians, in circumstances where the use of such sub-custodians is necessary, may be exposed to risk. The Depositary monitors its delegates on an ongoing basis and shall exercise all due skill, care and diligence to ensure that entrusting financial instruments to its sub-custodian (appointed pursuant to Article 21(11) of Directive 2011/61/EU) provides an adequate standard of protection in accordance to Article 98(1) and Article 98(2) of the AIFMD Level 2 Regulations.
