Objectives and investment policy

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth and preservation of capital with lower volatility of returns than emerging market equities by investing in equity and fixed income securities in eligible investment countries.

Essential features

The fund invests primarily in a broad range of equity, hybrid and debt securities that are admitted to an official listing or traded on other regulated markets from issuers in emerging markets; in countries with a credit rating of Ba or lower or BB or lower; in countries that are or have been in the past five years on an International Monetary Fund ("IMF") program; or in countries that have outstanding liabilities with the IMF. Securities from issuers in countries with significant exposure to emerging markets, or that are primarily traded in emerging markets, or that are denominated in emerging market currencies are also considered to be securities of emerging markets issuers. The fund does not use short-selling or leverage.

Investors can buy and sell shares of the fund on a daily basis. This fund may only be appropriate for long-term investment.

This fund is an actively managed UCITS.

Dividends

Dividends in this class will generally be paid at least once a year.

Risk and reward profile

Historical data, such as is used in calculating this indicator, may not be a reliable indication for the future. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean risk free.

The fund is rated 4 due to the nature of its investments which include the risks listed below. These factors singularly or in combination may impact the value of the fund's investments or expose the fund to losses.

- Equities risk: The prices of equity securities may decline in response to certain events, including those directly involving the companies whose securities are owned by the fund, overall market changes, local, regional or global political, social or economic instability and currency fluctuations.
- Bonds risk: The market values of bonds generally vary inversely with the level of interest rates - when interest rates rise, their values will tend to decline and vice versa. Funds investing in bonds will be exposed to credit risk. Securities which have a lower credit rating are generally considered to have a higher credit risk and a greater possibility of default than more highly rated securities.
- High yield bonds risk: These bonds typically are subject to greater market fluctuations and to greater risk of loss of income and principal due to default by the issuer than are higher-rated bonds. Lower-rated bonds' values tend to reflect short-term corporate, economic and market developments and investor perceptions of the issuer's credit quality to a greater extent than lower yielding higher-rated bonds.

- Liquidity risk: Some securities, primarily unlisted securities and/or those traded in OTC markets, under certain circumstances may not be traded quickly enough in the market to prevent a loss.
- Operational risk: This fund may invest in markets where settlement systems are less well organised than those of developed markets. Thus settlement may be delayed and cash or securities belonging to the fund may be in jeopardy.
- Counterparty risk: Other financial institutions provide services to the fund such as safekeeping of assets or may serve as a counterparty to financial contracts such as derivatives. There is a risk the counterparty will not meet their obligations.
- Derivative instruments risk: While the fund intends to use derivative instruments in a prudent manner and primarily for hedging and/or efficient portfolio management purposes, derivative instruments may expose a fund to additional risks related to the credit risks of the counterparty and potential for increased volatility and reduced liquidity in comparison to the underlying security positions.

- Shanghai-Hong Kong and Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect risk: Investments in securities traded and cleared on these two programs are subject to various risks associated with the legal and technical framework of Stock Connect and/or may involve clearing and settlement, regulatory and counterparty risks.
- Distressed securities risk: The fund may invest in distressed securities which have a credit rating lower than CCC- by Standard & Poor's or equivalent, at the time of purchase. Therefore, distressed and defaulted debt securities are subject to large uncertainties and are exposed to major risks related to adverse economic conditions as well as a significant risk of capital loss.
- China Interbank Bond Market risk: Investments in Chinese onshore bonds traded directly via the China Interbank Bond Market are subject to various risks associated with clearing and settlement, liquidity, regulatory and counterparty risks.
