Report of the Management Company

The fund invests in companies and bonds that are listed on stock and bond exchanges and that have a positive impact through contribution to the transition to a more sustainable society. In some instances, the fund may also invest in sovereign and sub-sovereign bonds. Investments in the fund address seven sustainable transition themes that contribute to solving global challenges posed by structural trends such as ageing populations, resource scarcity, inequality and social exclusion. Each sub-fund has its own specific risk-return profile, applies a long-term strategy and has a concentrated but well-diversified portfolio.

Impact investment approach

The sub-funds have sustainable investments as their objective as defined in article 9 of the SFDR. The sustainability-related information for each sub-fund is available in the annexes in section “Sustainability-related disclosures” of the annual report. In addition to the information provided in the 2022 annual report, an annual impact report was published in the first half of 2023 that provides a more extensive overview of the fund’s positive impact in 2022. This report, as well as regular updates, are available on www.triodos-im.com.

The sub-funds distinguish themselves by their mandates, strict principles and active dialogue with companies. The investment process starts with a long-term vision for the transition towards a more sustainable society. The fund invests in companies that contribute to the progress of seven sustainable transition themes:

- Sustainable Food and Agriculture;
- Sustainable Mobility and Infrastructure;
- Renewable Resources;
- Circular Economy;
- Social Inclusion and Empowerment;
- Innovation for Sustainability; and
- Prosperous and Healthy People.

These transition themes are the cornerstone of the fund’s stock selection process, as each company and/or issuer in the portfolio must make a positive contribution to one or more of these themes through its commercial propositions. In addition, all investments must meet the strict Triodos group-wide minimum standards.

The fund invests in order to achieve positive change – as well as aims for a financial return that is in line with the broader market and is realised at acceptable risk levels – using disciplined investment criteria and a fully integrated investment and stewardship approach.

Macroeconomic developments

In the first half of 2023, the global economy held up better than expected. A gradual slowdown was visible, but many observers expected much worse at the end of last year. Back then, the scene seemed set for rolling recessions in most of the major advanced economies as well as a sub-par Chinese activity expansion. However, the longevity of several pockets of economic strength was underestimated. On top of that, warm weather and the lifting of lockdowns dampened the effects of the war in Ukraine and the COVID-19 pandemic.

Indeed, an extraordinarily warm European winter and ongoing corporate energy efficiency gains resulted in lower-than-expected gas consumption. In combination with gas storage facilities being filled to capacity, this led to falling European gas prices. Sizable fiscal support ensured that the still above-average energy prices did not affect household disposable incomes as much as feared. Consequently, the contraction of the eurozone economy during the winter was so small that it might be better described as a period of stagnation. And with the UK economy modestly expanding, both economies essentially avoided the much-anticipated winter recessions. Nevertheless, the ongoing war in Ukraine continued to cast a shadow over Europe, as a near-term ending remained out of sight.

Meanwhile, ongoing fiscal support across advanced economies caused continued tightness in labour markets. Unemployment rates remained close to their record-lows. This allowed households to continue to spend on services, resulting in an acceleration of services sector activity that compensated for continued weakness across the manufacturing sectors. As a result, economic activity expanded solidly in the US and Japan during the first half of the year. In Japan, the removal of COVID-related lockdowns was crucial in that respect, and in the US the further depletion of the excess savings built up during the pandemic played an important role. China also experienced a reopening boom in the first quarter, as it abandoned its zero-COVID policy. However, China’s recovery started to disappoint in the second quarter, as low consumer and investor confidence signalled that several structural issues were still lingering.

Solid corporate earnings supported global economic activity as well, by preventing forced layoffs and significant cuts in capital expenditure. But the stagnation of global trade in the first few months of the year did indicate that global demand was gradually softening.

Headline inflation eased considerably across advanced economies during the first half of 2023. This was mostly because of falling energy prices and easing goods prices. But core inflation barely eased in the US and the eurozone, and even continued to rise in the UK and Japan. This was mostly due to stubborn services inflation, reflecting the strong services demand and elevated wage growth. Consequently, most of the major central banks continued their aggressive tightening efforts. In total, the Federal Reserve (Fed) hiked its policy interest rate by 75 bps in the first half of 2023, whereas the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Bank of England (BoE) both hiked by 150 bps. The higher interest rates across most major advanced economies continued to dampen activity in the housing markets, although not as much as feared. The Bank of Japan remained the odd one out with a continued dovish stance.

Although the aggressive monetary tightening did not result in an abrupt slowdown of global activity, it did cause turmoil in the banking sector. Silicon Valley Bank, a US mid-sized bank, failed in March after it incurred steep losses on its bond holdings because of bad risk management and aggressive policy rate hiking by the Fed. Not much later, Credit Suisse had to be taken over by fellow-Swiss financial institution UBS. These events temporarily spread fear across global financial markets. However, the stress quickly faded because the turmoil did not turn into a systemic crisis, as policymakers reacted adequately to avoid further turbulence.

Unfortunately, the implemented policy measures did in general not have any sustainable earmarks, and were designed purely to support aggregate demand and keep all companies afloat. Measures that lowered the price of electricity and gas for everyone were extended, although this goes directly against addressing inequality, as such measures equally favour higher-income households, who have more buffers to cope with these price increases. Such measures clearly do not incentivise a reduction in fossil fuel-related energy consumption and are therefore not in line with carbon emissions reduction targets. Likewise, the current form of monetary tightening amplifies inequality, as it is aimed at slowing down the economy through rising unemployment and suppressed wage growth. Sharply rising interest rates at the same time increase the return requirements for all investments uniformly, while we know that sustainable projects related to the energy transition, for instance, have higher starting costs, and thus will be the first to be impacted by higher rates. Therefore, the policy measures of the past half year mostly targeted a return to the pre-pandemic status quo. This is a lost opportunity for steering towards a more sustainable economic system.

Market developments

Global equity markets rose sharply in the first half of 2023, despite the aggressive rate hikes by most major central banks. This was mostly because investor sentiment was boosted by better-than-expected macroeconomic data and solid corporate earnings reports. Earnings reports for the first quarter did indeed exceed consensus expectations, and although net profit margins fell, they still hovered above the averages of the pre-pandemic decade. This fuelled hopes for a 'soft landing', a scenario in which central bankers would be able to tame inflation without causing deep recessions. Easing headline inflation across most major advanced economies and only gradually slowing global activity did indeed suggest that the required cooling of the overheated economy had set in without any signs of imminent recessions. Investors remained careful, but positioning slowly moved towards this soft landing scenario, or at least a 'goldilocks' stage: a period without rate hikes and an economy that is neither too hot nor too cold, but just right for risky assets to flourish. Excitement about soaring demand for all Artificial Intelligence related business also pushed markets higher. And the brief scare caused by the banking turmoil only caused a temporary market hiccup, as investors quickly realised that policymakers would turn towards easing policies if there was a risk of financial instability.

On a regional level, the best semi-annual equity returns in euro terms were realised in the US. This makes sense, as the US market is dominated by several big tech companies, which benefitted from the Artificial Intelligence boom and general risk-on sentiment. Within Europe, eurozone equity markets outperformed those in the UK, as the UK equity market is more heavily dependent on Energy and Financials. In general, growth outperformed value over the past half year, as the risk-on sentiment was unfavourable for defensive sectors such as Utilities, Consumer Staples and Health Care.

Global bond markets also generated positive returns in the first half of 2023. Longer-term bond yields stayed range bound, as recession fears and continued interest rate hikes mostly cancelled each other out. But shorter-term bond yields moved up in both the US and the eurozone because of continued central bank rate hiking. As a result, yield curves further inverted. Corporate bonds outperformed sovereign bonds, on tighter credit spreads.

Triodos Euro Bond Impact Fund

Investment strategy

Global bond markets generated positive returns in the first half of 2023. Yield levels were broadly unchanged for bonds with longer maturities, whereas short-term yields rose over the period, on the back of sticky inflation and ongoing monetary tightening. Corporate bonds outperformed sovereign bonds on tighter credit spreads, with lower-rated bonds outperforming higher-quality bonds. The sub-fund had an overweight duration but remained defensively positioned in terms of credit risk, with a focus on high-quality bonds. All bonds in the portfolio had a clear fit with one of the seven sustainable transition themes.

In the first half of 2023, one bond issuer was removed from the portfolio, whereas five new bond issuers were added. Fresenius Medical Care was removed based on the expected further deterioration of the company's credit risk profile.

Within the Renewable Resources theme, the sub-fund invested in a green bond issued by Landesbank Hessen-Thüringen Girozentrale (Helaba). The company has a mandate to promote social and environmental impact. The Green bond is used to finance loans for projects related to renewable energy.

Two new holdings were added within the Social Inclusion and Empowerment theme: a social bond from German residential real estate company Vonovia and a sustainability bond issued by the autonomous community of Castilla y León, the largest region in Spain. The proceeds of Vonovia's social bond are used to develop affordable housing and low-barrier housing projects in Germany, Austria and Sweden. The proceeds of the sustainability bond issued by Castilla y León cover both green and social aspects: financing access to essential services, employment, socioeconomic advancement and empowerment, affordable basic infrastructure, and environmentally sustainable management of living natural resources and land use.

Within the Sustainable Mobility and Infrastructure theme, the sub-fund invested in a green bond issued by National Grid. This company plays an important role in enabling the energy transition and reducing carbon emissions. The proceeds of the green bond are used to support renewable energy production and integration of renewable energy into the grids.

Within the Prosperous and Healthy People theme, the inaugural social bond issued by the German State of Saxony Anhalt was added to the sub-fund. The proceeds of the social bond are mainly used to fund access to essential services including healthcare and education. The remainder of the proceeds are used for employment, affordable infrastructure and socioeconomic empowerment projects.

Performance

In the first half of 2023, the total net assets of Triodos Euro Bond Impact Fund grew from EUR 310.5 million to EUR 354.2 million. During this period, the return of the sub-fund (Z-dis) was 1.6% (net of fees, including reinvestment of dividends), while the benchmark yielded 2.0%.

Gross of fees, the sub-fund generated a relative outperformance, which was mainly driven by the positive allocation effect that resulted from the sub-fund's overweight position in government-related bonds and underweight position in government bonds. This largely compensated for the negative selection effect stemming from the sub-fund's overweight position in high-quality bonds. The longer duration of the sub-fund compared to the benchmark has led to a positive curve change contribution. The curve carry contribution was neutral.

Triodos Global Equities Impact Fund

Investment strategy

Equity markets entered a bull market in the first half of the year. The MSCI World Index in local currency rose more than 20% since last October's lows. Investors ignored Central Bankers messages that made clear that they may need to rise interest rates further to curb inflation. In addition, weaker economic data did not worry investors. Company earnings are still healthy, and investors believe that we are closer to the end of the rate hike cycle. Stocks from the Information Technology sector were the undisputed winners in the first half of 2023. US Big Tech stocks were the main drivers of the index returns.

The sub-fund continued to focus on selecting companies with solid fundamentals and impact-focused management teams, diversifying portfolio risk across and within themes and regions as well as across different types of business models. As a consequence of the positive impact selection criteria and strict minimum standards, the sub-fund was underexposed to the Energy and Financials sectors. These were among the worst performing sectors during the reporting period.

In the first half of 2023, the sub-fund established a position in Enphase Energy and National Grid. Enphase Energy produces inverters for solar panels, which is vital for the transition from traditional fossil fuel energy to clean and renewable energy. Enphase Energy is a clear fit with the Renewable Resources theme. National Grid plays a pivotal role in enabling the energy transition, by strengthening and adapting its grid for more decentralized electricity generation, greater peaks of supply and demand and more generation of renewable energy. National Grid fits well with the Sustainable Mobility and Infrastructure theme.

Performance

In the first half of 2023, the total net assets of Triodos Global Equities Impact Fund grew from EUR 1.0 billion to EUR 1.1 billion. During this period, the return of the sub-fund (Z-dis) was 9.8% (net of fees, including reinvestment of dividends), while the benchmark yielded 12.9%.

The sub-fund realised a good return but underperformed relative to the reference index.

The first half of 2023 was dominated by the impressive performance of the so-called 'Magnificent Seven'. Not having exposure to six of these seven US Big Tech names was not helpful for the relative performance. The sub-fund's holding in NVIDIA mitigated this partly and was the strongest contributor to the sub-fund's performance in the first half of the year. Companies related to the Renewable Energy theme, including Vestas, Enphase Energy and Acciona Energías Renovables had a negative impact on the relative performance.

Triodos Sterling Bond Impact Fund

Investment strategy

In the first half of 2023, yields rose further, driven by rising inflation numbers and a more aggressive monetary stance of the BoE monetary policy committee. As at 30 June 2023, the policy rate was 5%. The 10-year UK Gilt benchmark yield rose from 3.6% at the end of 2022 to almost 4.4% at the end of June 2023. Overall, yields in the UK bond market were volatile, particularly in the months of February and May. The sub-fund has a slightly longer duration than the benchmark: 4.35 years versus 4.1 years.

Three new positions were added to the sub-fund: National Grid, BT Group and Reckitt Benkiser. National Grid fits the theme of Sustainable Mobility and Infrastructure. In the coming decades, grid operators as National Grid will need to reinforce their aging infrastructure in order to be able to cope with more extreme weather events and build new connections and repurpose their existing assets to handle burgeoning and more decentralized renewables generation. BT Group fits the Social Inclusion and Empowerment theme. Telecommunications technology enables people to connect with each other, which is key for inclusion and empowerment in this increasingly digital society. BT Group's core products are mobile phone and internet connections as well as fixed phone lines. The company furthermore promotes digital skills by providing training and webinars to customers. Reckitt Benkiser fits the theme of Prosperous and Healthy People because of its efforts to create a more hygienic world and promote well-being by selling products for household hygiene, self-care, germ protection, safe sex and vitamins, minerals and supplements. No issuers were removed.

Performance

In the first half of 2023, the total net assets of Triodos Sterling Bond Impact Fund grew from GBP 15.7 million to GBP 16.0 million. During this period, the return of the sub-fund (KR-cap) was -2.2% (net of fees, including reinvestment of dividends), while the benchmark yielded -1.6%.

This relative underperformance was mainly due to a negative selection effect. This effect was driven by the focus on higher-quality corporate bonds and government-related bonds which had a negative impact in an environment of tightening credit spreads. Also, the curve change effect was negative due to the slight overweight position in duration. The allocation effect was positive which was mostly related to the underweight position in UK Gilts.

Triodos Impact Mixed Fund – Defensive, Neutral, Offensive

Investment strategy

The sub-funds did benefit from the strong performance of equity markets during the first half of 2023. Investors seem to anticipate a soft landing or mild recession of the global economy and expect that the large hike in policy interest rates is almost done. Stocks in the Information Technology sector were the undisputed winners in the first half of the year. US Big Tech stocks were the main drivers of the index returns. Bonds also posted positive returns.

The sub-funds continued to focus on selecting companies and institutions with solid fundamentals and impact-focused activities. As a consequence of the positive impact selection criteria and strict minimum standards, the sub-funds were underexposed to the Energy and Financials sectors. These were among the worst performing sectors during the reporting period.

In the first half of 2023, the sub-funds added new equity positions in Enphase Energy (Renewable Resources), AT&T (Social Inclusion and Empowerment) and National Grid (Sustainable Mobility and Infrastructure). Impact bonds were added via new positions in government(-related) bonds from Austria, Hessen, Sachsen and Castilla y León, and corporate bonds issued by Kering (Circular Economy) and British Telecom (Social Inclusion and Empowerment).

The sub-funds enjoyed a solid absolute return but underperformed the reference index. The relative underperformance is entirely due to the equity returns, as the tactical asset allocation was neutral and bonds performed in line. The sub-funds had limited exposure to the so-called Magnificent Seven (Big IT). The sub-funds' holding in NVIDIA mitigated this to some extent and was the strongest contributor to the sub-funds' performance in the first half of the year. Companies related to the Renewable Resources theme, including Vestas, Enphase Energy and Acciona Energías Renovables, had a negative impact on the relative performance.

Performance Triodos Impact Mixed Fund – Offensive

In the first half of 2023, the total net assets of Triodos Impact Mixed Fund – Offensive grew from EUR 54.9 million to EUR 61.4 million. During this period, the return of the sub-fund (Z-dis) was 7.6% (net of fees, including reinvestment of dividends), while the benchmark yielded 10.1%.

The relative performance of Triodos Impact Mixed Fund – Offensive was in line with the reference benchmark.

As the investment style puts a great deal of emphasis on impact and reasonable valuations, the sub-fund has a strong focus on Europe and Japan, unlike the benchmark, which has a strong bias to high-growth US IT and Communication stocks. The rise in interest rates triggered a switch from (high) growth stocks to more value-based investments. The equity selection in the sub-fund was positive but suffered from adverse currency movements for the US dollar and Japanese yen.

The bond investments for the sub-fund also performed in line with the fixed income reference index. The slightly higher quality was positive, but was offset by the longer duration for government bonds.

The tactical asset allocation had a small positive impact, as Triodos Impact Mixed Fund – Offensive had an underweight position in equities during the first half of the year.

Triodos Pioneer Impact Fund

Investment strategy

The first half of 2023 was characterised for the sub-fund by a strong first quarter and a more moderate second quarter. During the first quarter, the sub-fund gained over 8% and strongly outperformed its reference index. During the second quarter, the absolute performance was marginally positive and the sub-fund lagged the index.

After a challenging 2022, equity markets rebounded during the first half of 2023. Investors were willing to look past the many uncertainties out there. The earnings reports for the fourth quarter 2022 and first quarter of 2023 were reassuring and did not result in significant earnings downgrades. This was an important driver for the market. Another driver were all the developments related to Artificial Intelligence. Quite a number of companies in the Information Technology sector expect to benefit from this, with some companies even upgrading their outlook.

The sub-fund also benefited from the strong performance of the Information Technology sector. Holdings such as BE Semiconductor Industries, Power Integrations and Universal Display performed very well.

This contributed to the strong performance of the sub-fund in the first half. Also stock selection within Industrials and Healthcare was positive. The stock selection within Consumer Discretionary detracted from the performance as Japanese holding Kyoritsu Maintenance lagged.

The sub-fund continues to focus on selecting companies with solid fundamentals, strong balance sheets and impact-focused management teams, supported by decent cashflow-based valuations, diversifying portfolio risk across and within themes and regions as well as across different types of business models. Consequently, the sub-fund was not exposed to oil and gas names, or to banks, insurers and other financial services companies. The sub-fund invests both in growth and value-oriented positions. This results in a balanced portfolio that does not have a distinct style drift.

During the first half of 2023, the sub-fund continued to lower its exposure to large caps by selling Vestas, Shimano, Insulet, and East Japan Railway. New positions were established in Allegion, Knorr-Bremse, Gentex, Nordex and United Utilities.

In the first half of 2023, the total net assets of Triodos Pioneer Impact Fund grew from EUR 583.6 million to EUR 649.4 million. During this period, the return of the sub-fund (Z-cap) was 9.0% (net of fees, including reinvestment of dividends), while the benchmark yielded 5.7%.

The sub-fund's outperformance was driven by stock selection, while allocation and currency effects were negative. The underweight position in the Energy and Industrials sectors made a negative contribution to the relative performance. Stock selection was most positive in the Consumer Discretionary and Information Technology sectors. The allocation to cash had a positive impact on performance.

Triodos Future Generations Fund

Investment strategy

The sub-fund's relative performance in the first half of 2023 was strong and reflected a positive equity market sentiment. In addition, portfolio companies in general posted attractive earnings and outlooks. Several companies in the portfolio were also targeted for acquisitions. As a result, the sub-fund performed well ahead of the reference index.

As part of the support for UNICEF, the sub-fund made a start with engagement focused on child wellbeing topics.

The sub-fund continues to focus on selecting companies with solid fundamentals, strong balance sheets and impact-focused management teams, supported by decent cashflow-based valuations, diversifying portfolio risk across and within themes and regions as well as across different types of business models. Consequently, the sub-fund was not exposed to the Energy and Financials sectors.

During the first half of 2023, the sub-fund added Ito-En and Revvity to the portfolio. These companies replaced adidas, Chegg and Hain Celestial. The first two were sold because of lack of conviction in the strength of their business models. Hain Celestial was sold to reduce overlap with Triodos Pioneer Impact Fund.

Performance

In the first six months of 2023, the total net assets of Triodos Future Generations Fund grew from EUR 31.4 million to EUR 35.9 million. During this period, the return of the sub-fund (Z-dis) was 4.9% (net of fees, including reinvestment of dividends), while the benchmark yielded 2.4%.

The sub-fund's strong performance was mainly driven by sector allocation effects, while selection and currency effects had a negative impact. The Industrials, Consumer Staples and Healthcare sectors were the main positive contributors. The net effect of not having exposure to Energy, Financials and Real Estate was positive as well. The negative currency impact is largely attributable to the overweight position in the Swedish Krona.

Outlook

Macroeconomic outlook

For now, several pockets of strength imply that an abrupt break in global economic activity is unlikely. Triodos Investment Management nevertheless projects global economic activity to expand by only 2.6% in 2023, which is meagre by historical standards. Near-term regional growth divergence implies a relatively gradual global slowdown in the second half of 2023. The Management Company now expects that the effects of monetary tightening will not really start to bite until 2024, which is why the Management Company has pushed its call for a mild recession in the US out to the first half of 2024. For the eurozone, Triodos Investment Management expects sluggish growth going forward, and the Management Company foresees an even more prolonged period of muted growth in the UK. The global slowdown will also slow Japanese activity growth going forward, while Chinese activity will normalise as COVID-19 reopening effects fade, which will be enough to prevent a global recession.

Triodos Investment Management expects headline inflation to come down significantly across advanced economies as the year progresses. However, current wage dynamics make it unlikely for headline inflation to approach the 2% that central banks are targeting by year-end. That is why the Management Company expects central bankers to leave policy rates untouched for the remainder of the year, after pausing the rate hiking cycle in Q3.

The Management Company sees inflation staying more elevated than expected as one of the main risks to the outlook, because this would likely mean even higher policy interest rates and a greater chance of a synchronised global recession. On the other hand, rapidly easing core inflation is an upside risk to the outlook, as would be a quick de-escalation of the conflict in Ukraine. But Triodos Investment Management considers these upside risks to be less likely, which is why the risks are tilted to the downside.

Equity markets outlook

For the time being, the Management Company is sticking to its overweight equity allocation. This call is based on the expectation that an earnings recession will be avoided, as implied by global 12-months forward earnings per share revisions. These have turned positive at the end of April, meaning upward revisions have started to outnumber downward revisions. Secondly, central bankers are approaching the end of their rate hike cycles, with the Fed nearly done and the ECB likely to pause after the summer. Thirdly, strong labour markets and healthy household and corporate balance sheets make a 'soft landing' scenario without deep regional recessions increasingly likely. Lastly, the recent banking turmoil has confirmed the Management

Company's belief that policymakers are determined to step in and 'go big' before any emerging financial stress escalates into an actual crisis.

Bond markets outlook

As a result of the overweight position in equities, the Management Company is now underweighting in bonds. For eurozone government bonds, the ECB's financial stability considerations have always been the main reason for Triodos Investment Management to suspect that the sharp rise in yields since the beginning of 2022 was bound to be partly reversed in 2023. The ECB certainly wants to prevent any significant widening of spreads between Southern European countries and the German Bund. This is why the Management Company expects bond yields to be slightly lower towards the end of the year. Triodos Investment Management expects that the short end of the yield curve will come down more than the long end, meaning the yield curve will become less inverted. Since the Management Company is in line with market pricing when it comes to expectations for the ECB's ultimate policy rate level, it is sticking to a neutral duration. Nevertheless, the high interest rate environment could result in corporate financial difficulties further down the road, potentially triggering an increase in downgrades. The Management Company therefore continues to prefer high-quality names.

Sustainable investment opportunities

Triodos Investment Management continues to see opportunities in the sustainable investment landscape. The European Green Deal, the EU's roadmap for making its economy sustainable, will continue to gain momentum. The related green taxonomy will enable investors to steer their investments towards more sustainable technologies and businesses, and the creation of an EU Green Bond Standard will deliver a uniform tool to assess green bonds. The Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR), part of the EU's Green Deal, also makes investors more aware of financial risks related to sustainability, and to some extent limits the options for greenwashing. The Green Deal will also force companies to become more transparent.

Apart from in Europe, the Management Company expects to continue to find sustainable investment opportunities in Japan, where corporate governance continues to improve due to top-down governance initiatives while bottom-up Sustainable Development Goals are high on companies' agendas. In the US, the Inflation Reduction Act will spur the green transition with over EUR 350 billion of green subsidies. Overall, Triodos Investment Management will continue to contribute to the envisioned transition by focussing on investments that support climate mitigation and adaptation and the fulfilment of the Sustainable Development Goals in this decade.

Notes to the Financial Statements as at 30 June 2023

Note 1 - General

Triodos SICAV I is an open-ended investment company with a designated management company, incorporated under the laws of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg as a “Société d’Investissement à Capital Variable” (SICAV) in the form of a “société anonyme”. Triodos SICAV I is governed by the law of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg of 10 August 1915 on commercial companies, as amended, and by part I of the Law of 17 December 2010, as amended. Triodos SICAV I has appointed Triodos Investment Management as its authorised UCITS management company.

The fund (and each of its sub-funds) does not qualify as a “structured UCITS” within the meaning of article 36(1) of Commission Regulation (EU) No 583/2010 of 1 July 2010 implementing Directive 2009/65/EC.

The fund has been incorporated under the name of Triodos SICAV I for an unlimited period. The registered office of Triodos SICAV I is established at 11-13, boulevard de la Foire, L-1528 Luxembourg.

The articles of incorporation of Triodos SICAV I were last amended at the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders held on 19 May 2021 and published in the Recueil des Sociétés et Associations (RESA). The R.C.S. number of the fund is B119.549.

The shares to be issued shall be issued in several separate sub-funds of Triodos SICAV I. A separate portfolio of assets is maintained for each sub-fund and is invested in accordance with the investment objective for that sub-fund. As a result, Triodos SICAV I is commonly known as an “umbrella fund” enabling investors to choose between one or more investment objectives by investing in one or more sub-funds. Investors may choose which sub-fund(s) may be most appropriate for their specific risk and return expectations as well as their diversification needs.

As at 30 June 2023, Triodos SICAV I has eight sub-funds that are open to investors:

Note 2 - Summary of significant accounting policies

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with Luxembourg regulations relating to investment funds using the following significant accounting policies.

a) Valuation of investments

The value of such assets is determined as follows:

The value of any cash on hand or on deposit, bills and demand notes and accounts receivable, prepaid expenses, cash dividends and interests declared or accrued as aforesaid and not yet received is deemed to be the full amount thereof, unless in any case the same is unlikely to be paid or received in full, in which case the value thereof is arrived at after making such discount as may be considered appropriate in such case to reflect the true value thereof.

The value of transferable securities, money market instruments and any other financial assets listed or dealt in on a regulated market, a stock exchange in another state or on any other regulated market is based on the last available price on the relevant market which is normally the principal market for such assets.

In the event that any assets are not listed or dealt in on any regulated market, any stock exchange in another state or on any other regulated market, or if, with respect to assets listed or dealt in on any such markets, the price as determined above is not representative of the fair market value of the relevant assets, the value of such assets will be based on reasonably foreseeable sales prices determined prudently and in good faith by the Board of Directors.

b) Net realised profit / (loss) on sales of investments

The net realised profit / (loss) on sales of investments is calculated on the basis of average cost of investments sold.

c) Foreign exchange translation

Triodos SICAV I maintains its accounting records in euros and its financial statements are expressed in this currency.

Assets and liabilities which are not denominated in euros are translated into euros at the rate of exchange prevailing in Luxembourg at applicable exchange rates at the end of the year.

Income and expenses in currencies other than euros are translated into euros at the applicable exchange rates prevailing on the transaction date. Resulting realised and unrealised foreign exchange gains or losses are included in the statement of operations and changes in net assets. The exchange rates used at 30 June 2023 are:

1 EUR = 1.638999 AUD	1 EUR = 153.402700 KES	1 EUR = 7.445930 DKK	1 EUR = 11.784275 SEK
1 EUR = 5.262980 BRL	1 EUR = 11.688451 NOK	1 EUR = 0.858143 GBP	1 EUR = 1.091000 USD
1 EUR = 0.976063 CHF	1 EUR = 1.780788 NZD	1 EUR = 157.687671 JPY

d) Income from investments

Interest on fixed income securities is accrued prorata temporis on each net asset calculation date and dividends are accrued on an ex- dividend basis.

e) Allocation of expenses

Each sub-fund shall pay for the general costs and expenses directly attributable to it. These fees are all part of the service fee.

General costs and expenses that cannot be attributed to a given sub-fund shall be allocated to the sub-funds, in proportion to their respective net assets. These fees are all part of the service fee.

Since the introduction of MiFID II on 3 January 2018, research costs have to be paid either by the fund, or by the investment manager. The choice was made to have the investment manager pay for the research costs. No research costs are allocated to the sub-funds.

f) Formation expenses

The costs and expenses of the formation of the fund have been borne by the fund and amortised over a period of five years. Expenses incurred in connection with the creation of any additional sub-fund shall be borne by the relevant sub-fund and, where applicable, will be written off in proportion to their net assets over a period not exceeding five years.

Note 3 - Determination of the net asset value of shares

The net asset value per share of each sub-fund is expressed in the reference currency of the relevant sub-fund and is calculated for each sub-fund by dividing the assets of such sub-fund less its liabilities by the number of shares in issue in respect of such sub-fund.

Note 4 - Fees

4.1 Management fees

The annual management fee of each sub-fund is used to cover charges and expenses of the sub-fund to be paid to the management company, the investment manager (if any) and the distributors of each sub-fund in relation to share distribution (if applicable). The annual management fee is accrued daily out of the assets attributable to the relevant class of shares or sub-fund as a percentage of the net asset value.

4.2 Service fees

The annual service fee of the sub-fund is also used to cover all charges and expenses to the depositary, the administrative agent, the registrar and transfer agent, the domiciliary agent and the paying agent. The annual service fee is accrued daily out of the assets attributable to the relevant class of shares or sub-fund as a percentage of the net asset value.

The share classes incur a fixed annual service fee to cover the expenses related to the administration and safekeeping of assets, and other ongoing operating and administrative expenses. The service fee is fixed in the sense that the management company bears the excess of any such expenses above the rate specified for each share class in the table below. Conversely, the management company is entitled to retain any amount by which the rate of these fees to be borne by the share classes, as set out in the table below, exceeds the actual expenses incurred by the relevant class of the relevant sub-fund.

The percentages of the service fees are as follows:

Service fees

4.3 Taxes

All payable taxes are charged separately to the fund, value added tax exempted. This mainly reverts to the Subscription taxes as mentioned in Note 1 and 6.

Note 5 - Distributions

In each class of shares within each sub-fund, the Board of Directors may issue capitalisation shares and distribution shares. Distribution shares may pay a dividend to their holders, whereas capitalisation shares capitalise their entire earnings.

The annual general meeting shall decide, on recommendation of the Board of Directors, what share of Triodos SICAV I's profits shall be distributed from each relevant class of shares. Consequently, the annual general meeting may approve, for each sub-fund or class of shares, the distribution of the net income and capital gains, realised or unrealised, after deduction of capital losses, realised or unrealised. The amounts corresponding to income attributable to the shares of a class for which it was decided not to pay a dividend will be capitalised in the assets of the class concerned.

Note 6 - Subscription tax

Triodos SICAV I is currently not liable to any Luxembourg tax on profits or income, nor are distributions paid by Triodos SICAV I liable to any Luxembourg withholding tax. Triodos SICAV I is, however, liable to an annual subscription tax in Luxembourg, which in principle amounts to 0.05% per annum of its net asset value, such tax being payable quarterly on the basis of the value of the aggregate net assets of the sub-funds at the end of the relevant calendar quarter. However, such rate may be reduced to 0.01% per annum of the net asset value for specific classes of shares or sub-funds which are restricted to institutional investors (Class I, Class I-II, Class K-I, Class K-I-II, Class U-I-II and Class P shares). Furthermore, if some sub-funds invest in other Luxembourg UCIs which in turn are subject to the annual subscription tax, no annual subscription tax is payable by Triodos SICAV I on the portion of assets invested therein.
